HALF WAY ON RIPPER BILLS

The Governor Signs One Philadelphia Measure and Vetoes Two.

POWER IS DIVIDED

Councils Can Elect Directors of Public Safety and of Public Works.

TO DISSEMINATE AUTHORITY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., May 5.

The one Philadelphia "ripper" bill most desired by the Philadelphia Republican organization was signed today by Gov. Pennypacker. The two companion bills were vetoed in a message in which the governor logically discusses all three measures.

The bill signed provides for the election by city councils, instead of appointment by the mayor, of the director of public safety and the director of public works. The bills vetoed provided for the election by councils of the director of the department of supplies and the director of the department of public health and charities.

The governor justifies his approval of this bill on the ground that there is difference of opinion as to the wisdom of a concentration of power or its dissemination, and that for him to exercise the veto power on this bill, after apparently more than two-thirds of both bodies of the legislature had voted in its favor, would have been contrary, in his opinion, to the purposes of the veto power as expressed by the constitution. The new law does not go into effect until the first Monday of April, 1907, when the next mayor takes office, and consequently will not apply to Director of Safety Smythe and Director of Public Safety Costello.

Governor Springs a Surprise.

The governor's action on these measures will be as great a surprise to their advocates as to the opposition, since it was generally believed by both sides that he would sign or veto them all. His veto is based on the bill relating to the director of public health and charities. He disposes of the other in a sentence to the effect that for the reasons which are set forth in the accompanying measure, "this bill is not approved."

A radical and sudden change from one form of government to another is always attended by disturbances and disadvantages," the governor believes. "In my view," he says, "it would be wiser to lessen the power of the mayor. It would be wiser not to take it away." Because the director of public works, who has charge of large contracts for which councils make appropriations, it would be better, the governor thinks, to have this officer controlled by councils, though in the matter of the director of public safety, who has charge of the safety of the citizens, the governor says, that officer should be an appointee of the mayor.

The Power of the Mayor.

Thus, with these views, the governor feels at a disadvantage, and had there been four bills, one for each department, instead of the present arrangement, action would not be so difficult. "Nevertheless," the governor concludes, "a modification of the proposed plan it is possible to make by approving the bill which changes the method of selecting the directors of the departments of public works and public safety, and disapproving the two bills which change the method of selecting the directors of the departments of public health and charities and supplies."

Speaking the power of the mayor, Gov. Pennypacker says:

"Since the passage of the Bullitt bill one mayor of Philadelphia sought to become the president of the United States. Another was selected for the special purpose of overthrowing the then existing political control of the commonwealth, and the effort very nearly succeeded. Such conditions and such possibilities certainly give rise to proper apprehension.

"While there is great difference of view as to the propriety of the proposed legislation, undoubtedly many of those most capable of judging correctly are of the opinion that the present system has not proven to be, upon the whole, advantageous to the municipality.

Contracts Corruptly Awarded.

"The most influential political leader in Philadelphia is of the opinion that it has proven to be harmful. Since he has had long experience, and the opportunity for close observation, his conclusions are, at least, entitled to careful consideration. Many of the most competent lawyers are in accord with this view.

"It has been announced far and wide over the land, and is believed by many good people, that under the succeeding mayors contracts for public work have been awarded to corrupt favorites, that the police have been in league with the keepers of dives, and that these improper relations have been supported by those in authority. However much we may disbelieve these charges, and however much we may depreciate their inconsiderate publication, they nevertheless indicate a dissatisfaction upon the part of those who make them with existing conditions."

Want Better Mail Facilities.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(Special.)—Representatives Dalzell and Sibley were at the postoffice department today, Mr. Dalzell making a request for the establishment of a sub-station in the Twentieth ward, while Mr. Sibley desired better mail facilities for the postoffice at Franklin. Both matters will be given attention by the department.

Counterfeiters' Cave Found.

BUCYRUS, O., May 5.—(Special.)—A counterfeiters' cave has been found on Olentangy creek, 25 miles south of here, and an effort is being made to capture the operators. A boy discovered a stovepipe projecting from the ground. Investigating, he found the cave, which contained an outfit of counterfeiting tools. Under the floor was a second cellar, which contained metals.

CUTLER TALKS OF GALVESTON LIARS

Will Say Nothing More When Asked About Mutinous Conditions Aboard Cruiser.

MEN PUT IN SWELTERING HOLE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NORFOLK, VA., May 5.—"There are as many liars in Galveston as you will find anywhere else; I have nothing to say for publication."

With this curt reply, Commander William G. Cutler of the United States cruiser Galveston, now at the navy yard, dismissed your correspondent who asked him for a statement in regard to the alleged dissatisfaction, bordering upon mutiny, which is said to have existed aboard the cruiser while she was at Galveston, Tex., recently. When the Galveston arrived here, contrary to the usual custom, the gangplank was not landed, and no visitors were allowed on board. None of the crew was allowed liberty.

It is understood there are 20 men confined in double irons in the brig of the ship, while perhaps as many more are under restraint, though not in irons. Just before the Galveston arrived at the navy yard, nine men had shackles placed on them. One of the crew of the Galveston said today that, while the reports sent out from Galveston had been greatly exaggerated, it was the best thing that could have happened for the ship for her commanding officer to leave the Texas port when he did.

"Had the ship remained there a few days longer she would never have gotten away without serious difficulty, especially with the present officers in command," said a petty officer. "The whole cause of the trouble," he continued, "lies in the action of the ship's officers in placing in iron in the brig a number of men who simply overstayed their liberty a few hours. This sort of treatment continued until the brig was filled up, until out of a crew of 291 men 50 were under arrest.

"A number of the rougher ones, after the brig was filled up, were placed in an empty coal bunker, where the thermometer registered 140 degrees. These men were kept in this place by a guard of marines."

PRESIDENT RESUMES HUNT.

First Appearance of Sun in Four Days Causes Renewed Activity in Mr. Roosevelt's Camp.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, COL., May 5.—Ice-coated mountains, with their slippery trails, could not keep President Roosevelt under cover today. At noon the clouds lifted and the snow and rain, which had fallen continuously for four days, ceased. With the first appearance of the sun, the president's party started out after the dogs, but, though the hunt was continued until dark, it was unsuccessful.

An early start will be made tomorrow, and the president hopes to get one more bear. He has not been discouraged by the bad weather. His health has been excellent, and the wild camp life is to his liking.

FRESH AIR BEST TREATMENT.

Lack of It Is Also Declared to Be the Cause of Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(Special.)—At the conclusion of the meeting of the cerebro-spinal meningitis commission at the health department building this evening Dr. Darlington announced that the commission had concluded that the best treatment for cerebro-spinal meningitis was fresh air. Windows should be kept open day and night.

Dr. Darlington further said it was the belief of the commission that the disease was brought on largely by a lack of fresh air. Epidemics of meningitis, he said, had occurred during especially severe winters, when windows were closed fast, and people went out little in the open air.

Awarded $109,000 Against Postal.

BUCYRUS, O., May 5.—(Special.)—After the suit of the Ohio Postal Telegraph and Cable Company against the Big Four Railroad Company had been in court five years, the jury today awarded the Big Four damages for $109,000. The telegraph company sought to secure a right of way for poles from Berea to Union City. An appeal has been made for a new trial by the attorneys of the postal company.

Garfield Goes to Texas.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., May 5.—Commissioner James R. Garfield today left Los Angeles for Texas, after spending the greater part of the present week in an investigation of the oil situation in Southern California.

GOV. DAVIS IS ORDERED HOME FROM CANAL ZONE

Tenacious Official Is Forced to Leave His Post by Illness.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—To safeguard his life, Secretary Taft today emphatically ordered Gen. Davis, governor of the Panama canal zone, to proceed to the United States by the next steamer. Gen. Davis has malarial fever, and was advised by Col. Gorgas, chief sanitary officer at Panama, to proceed home on May 16. But Gen. Davis, whose tenacity of purpose is famed throughout the army, refused to leave his post. He feared that it might be said he was fleeing from the danger constituted by the four cases of yellow fever in the hospital. Secretary Taft today sent him this cable dispatch:

In spite of your disinclination to leave at this time, I must issue the order that you turn over control to Col. Gorgas as acting governor and that you come by the next steamer. Magoon suggested Gorgas as your substitute. No one who knows as I do your courageous fidelity to duty in face of all obstacles will attribute any unworthy motives to your coming when it is my order against your will. You will make this public.

When Gen. Davis arrives in the United States he will be appointed a member of the consulting engineering board of nine members, which will assist the canal commission in its consideration of engineering questions. Although it was deemed advisable to replace Gen. Davis with Judge Magoon, the former's services, not only in Panama but in the Philippines and in Cuba, are highly regarded.

Canal Employes Quit Isthmus.

COLON, May 5.—The steamer Seguranca sailed from this port yesterday for New York having as passengers over 30 late employes of the canal commission going home in consequence of discontent with conditions on the isthmus. The rainy season has set in, hindering the work of bush cutters back of the town, which will remain swampy until January unless filled up before that time.

TWO KILLED BY TORNADO.

Ten Are Injured and Many Buildings Wrecked by Storm at Owl, I. T.

FORT WORTH, TEX., May 5.—A tornado struck Owl, I. T., this evening and damaged the business part of the town to the extent of $50,000. Two persons were killed and 10 injured, four fatally. Nearly every business house in Owl was destroyed and about 50 dwellings were carried away.

The only school house was demolished. The building was filled with children who had taken refuge from the storm, and nearly all of them were injured. All telephone and telegraph wires were damaged and the true condition of those injured will not be known before morning. A train has gone from Coal Gate carrying physicians.

MRS. CARTER INJURED.

Star at Belasco's in "Adrea" Fractures Tendons of Her Ancle and Will Act No More This Season.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Leslie Carter, the star in "Adrea" at Belasco's theater, met with an accident Thursday night by which three tendons in her right ankle were fractured. It is practically certain Mrs. Carter will not act again this season and the theater has been closed for the summer.

Mrs. Carter had been driving behind her spirited team Thursday afternoon and she reached the theater a little late. She was leaving her carriage rather hurriedly, and as her right foot touched the sidewalk in front of the Belasco the horses suddenly started. In endeavoring to keep her footing the heel of her right shoe was wrenched off. This threw her ankle over and the tendons gave way under the sudden strain.

PREMIER TISZA CHALLENGES STATESMAN TO A DUEL

Herr Pozsgay Causes an Uproar and Suspension of the Sitting of the Hungarian Parliament.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, May 5.—A duel between Premier Tisza and a member of the opposition, Herr Pozsgay, will be the outcome of a stormy debate in the lower house of the Hungarian diet today. Premier Tisza had bitterly assailed the demand of the opposition in the address to the throne, and especially that section demanding customs boundaries against Austria.

He pointed out that Hungary as an independent state would only be able to conclude treaties under the most unfavorable conditions, while it was of the utmost importance that Austrian markets should be open to Hungarian agricultural products.

The premier was interrupted by Herr Pozsgay, who said it was "beyond patience that a fallen premier should speak with such insolence." An uproar ensued, and the sitting was suspended. Afterwards Count Tissa sent his seconds to Herr Pozsgay.

WOMAN FAINTED IN COURT.

Alleged Baroness Committed to Jail at Washington on Charge of Grand Larceny.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Arraigned as Alice Nelsen, the woman claimed to be the Baroness De Vorie Salmo of Austria, today fainted in the police court after pleading not guilty to the charge of grand larceny and waiving examination. She sat pallid and trembling as the information was read, charging her with taking $500 worth of clothing from Mrs. William Slater of this city.

The woman was held to await the action of the grand jury and bond was fixed at $1,000, in default of which she was committed to jail.

HEAT DRIVES MILL MEN FROM WORK AT HOMESTEAD

STRIKE CRISIS NEAR AT HAND

Retail Merchants Will Try to Resume Normal Deliveries Today.

SHERIFF IS READY

If His Forces Prove Inadequate to Control Situation He Will Ask for Troops.

RIOTERS ARE NOT SO BOLD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, May 5.—A crisis in the teamsters' strike is expected to come tomorrow. State street retail merchants have decided to send out 1,100 wagons to make deliveries in all parts of the city. As far as possible these wagons will be guarded by deputy sheriffs, and in some cases by policemen. It will be impossible for all the wagons to be guarded by deputy sheriffs, but it is the intention to place two officers on each wagon as far as the number of deputies already sworn in will permit.

Sheriff Barrett had 200 deputies in service tonight, and said he thought this number would be ample for the work outlined for tomorrow. If it is not, it is said he will, conclude the sheriff's force and the police are not able to control the situation and a request will be made for the state militia.

Gov. Deneen has said he will order out the troops if a request is made by Sheriff Barrett, and on the failure or success of the attempt at retail deliveries tomorrow depends the coming of troops. Fifteen wagons were sent out today by the large dry goods and department stores, and all of them made deliveries with little interruption. On each of these wagons rode two deputy sheriffs. It was the success of this attempt at delivering goods that prompted the stores to send out nearly their full force of wagons.

Rioters Less Bold.

Either because of the threatened appearance of the troops or because of the addition to the police force in the shape of deputy sheriffs there was much less rioting and fighting in the downtown streets than on any day this week. Express wagons, each one of which carried a guard armed with a rifle or a double-barreled shotgun, went to and fro between depots and express offices without interruption other than that of an occasional stone thrown from the sidewalk or of some missile hurled from a window.

An order issued early in the day by Chief of Police O'Neill, directing that all persons should be prevented from following wagons as they went through the streets, had much to do with the absence of rioting. In the early days of the strike when the wagons of a boycotted firm passed through the streets they were followed by hundreds of men and boys, anxious to see any fight that might occur. Of late, however, these crowds of followers have become much more ugly in temper, and have constituted one of the chief sources of trouble. The police today turned back all groups of men that attempted to follow wagons, and there was much less opportunity for riots.

Assaults in Isolated Spots.

While there was less rioting in the downtown streets there were numerous assaults committed in all parts of the city, remote from the principal business quarter. Wherever a crowd could find a wagon with a small police guard, or unprotected, there was sure to be trouble if the driver was a non-union man. In several cases the drivers were beaten and their wagons overturned and the goods stolen. In other instances the drivers escaped injuries only by the fleetness of their horses.

Three coal wagons, after making a delivery at the factory of Seiz, Schwab & Co., at Ohio and Kingsbury streets, late this afternoon, were attacked by a crowd which pursued them for more than half a mile, raining stones, bricks and bottles on the police officers and the drivers. The riot began when stones and bottles were thrown from windows on the sixth floor of the Schultz Paper Box Company factory. This was the signal for a general onslaught. A woman was seen to throw several bricks and one glass tumbler from a window of the Schultz factory.

Women Urge Mob On.

As the wagons continued down Ohio street they were targets for persons in the windows of all the buildings and for the crowd which continued to follow them. Policemen charged the crowd repeatedly, but they were unable to keep it back. The mob was composed almost entirely of young men and women, the latter taking an active part in the rioting, and urging the men to further violence.

As the caravan passed Orleans street, a large cannon cracker was thrown from the crowd, exploding under the feet of one of the teams. The horses were held back with great difficulty by the police. Terrific explosions of large firecrackers occurred at several corners, but a search among the crowd by several detectives apparently failed to find the person who threw the explosives, as no arrest was made. At the Dearborn street bridge, the police made a final charge and dispersed the crowd.

Edward Lasbem, president of the Lasbem Teaming Company, was terribly beaten by union teamsters this afternoon at West Madison and Union streets. Lasbem was driving one of his own wagons and was asked to show a union button. Before he was given a chance to explain that he was a team owner and therefore ineligible as a member of the teamsters' union, he was pulled from his wagon, knocked down and kicked. Police Lieut. Connor went to Lasbem's assistance in time to capture seven of Lasbem's assailants. Lasbem's condition is serious.

Thinks Back Bone Is Broken.

Sheriff Barrett tonight expressed the belief that the crisis of the strike was over and its backbone was broken.

"I do not believe that conditions will develop in such a manner that troops will be found necessary," said the sheriff.

CZAR'S WARSHIPS OFF THE COAST OF JAPAN

Four Russian Torpedo Boat Destroyers Sighted West of Hokkaido, a Northern Island.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOKYO, May 6.—Four Russian torpedo boat destroyers were sighted west of Hokkaido yesterday (Friday).

Hokkaido, or the North sea circuit as it is also known, comprises Yezo, the most northerly of the large islands of Japan, with the twelve adjacent islands and the Kurile islands. It is separated from the main island of Japan on the south by the strait of Tsugaru, ten miles wide. Its principal seaport is Hakodate.

It is extremely probable that the Russian torpedo boat destroyers sighted are part of the fleet reported to have left Vladivostok to join Rojestvensky's squadron.

IN EACH OTHER'S ARMS AT BOTTOM OF RIVER

Daniel McGee Goes to the Rescue of His Brother, James, and Both Are Drowned.

James McGee, aged 8, and Daniel, aged 7, brothers, of Duquesne, went to the Monongahela river yesterday afternoon to go swimming. They took Lawrence Trainor and another young friend with them. James was first in the water, which was about two feet deep at the edge of the bank.

He struck out and was soon over his depth. He was seized with cramps and called for help. Daniel, who was about half undressed, jumped into the water in his clothing to rescue his brother. He seized the half-drowned boy as he came to the surface the second time.

Daniel had not sufficient strength to bring his brother ashore, and both sank beneath the surface. Their parents were notified, and Van Reed, a diver, was secured. Four hours later he found both bodies about 40 feet from the bank. The brothers were in each others arms.

JUVENILE PRISONER LAW.

Through Influence of Wu Ting Fang Chinese Offenders Will Be Taught Trade.

PEKIN, May 5.—(Copyright Cable.)—The recent memorial of Wu Ting Fang was officially confirmed today. Whipping as a punishment is abolished and imprisonment with hard labor is substituted for minor offenses. Young offenders will be confined separately from confirmed criminals, and they will be taught some trade. Prisoners will be fed by the government.

The memorial refers to American and European laws, showing the bad results of whipping and the great improvement due to lighter punishments and the employment of prisoners at useful trades.

ILLINOIS SOLONS PASS THE LOAN SHARK BILL

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., May 5.—A bill to regulate the dealings of persons who lend money on assignments of wages, commonly known as the "loan shark" bill, tonight unanimously passed the lower house of the Illinois assembly and it now goes to Gov. Deneen for his approval, as it has already passed the senate.

Alleged Pittsburgher Arrested.

BALTIMORE, May 5.—(Special.)—Louis Henson, 45 years old, who says his home is in Pittsburgh, was committed for the action of criminal court this morning, charged with entering the store of Robert Meikan & Son, 505 Light street, and stealing solder valued at $5, a pocketbook and 27 cents.

Black Hills Snowed Under.

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 5.—The Black hills are under from four to six feet of snow. Trains are delayed.

"Not until we see that we cannot cope with the situation will Gov. Deneen be called upon for aid. We will man every wagon in Chicago with a deputy sheriff in order to preserve peace if such a step is necessary."

The Hide and Leather association, a member of the Team Owners' association today decided to make deliveries to all firms, regardless of whether they were involved in the strike. This firm handles all the merchandise of the greater part of the drug stores and boot and shoe manufacturers throughout Chicago, and should the teamsters decide to call out the union drivers employed by the firm, it would affect 6,500 men.

Furniture manufacturers today resolved that all teamsters employed by them would make deliveries or be discharged. The Hastings Express Company, employing 50 drivers, today ordered its men to deliver goods wherever directed, and upon their refusal discharged them all.

The Employers' association this afternoon decided to offer a reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of any person interfering in any way with employes who have taken the place of strikers.

Famine Is Threatened.

Grocers today declared that by the middle of next week if the strike continues, Chicago will be facing the most acute famine in many years. Especially in canned goods is there a shortage in grocery stores. Grocers always let their canned goods stock run low this time of the year, because fresh vegetables begin to come in, but with the vegetable supply cut more than 50 per cent because the express companies will not handle it, the demand for canned goods has been especially heavy. Flour, beans, sugar, rice, salt, and tea are said to be fast giving out, not to mention worse scarcity of butter and eggs.

Fire tonight broke out in the yard of the Peabody Coal Company. A large crowd gathered, but no one would turn in an alarm because of the feeling against the Peabody company, which is a strong factor in the teamsters strike. The blaze was seen from a distance by a policeman who called the fire department. The police declared the fire was caused by an incendiary, but they had no direct proof.

Labor leaders and their followers were considerably stirred up today over the action of the Chicago banks represented in the clearing house association passing resolutions urging sending the militia to Chicago and raising $50,000 to help the Chicago Employers' association in its present fight on the teamsters. Efforts, it was said, would be made to find a "fair" bank in Chicago, and if such is found it is planned to have the laboring men withdraw savings from banks under ban and deposit with the "fair" bank.

GOVERNOR WILL WATCH STRIKE FROM CAPITAL

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., May 5.—Gov. Deneen will not go to Chicago to investigate personally the strike conditions prevailing in that city. He is being kept informed of every development in the strike, and should conditions there suddenly render imperative the calling out of state troops to aid in maintaining order, it is stated Gov. Deneen is prepared to act within 10 minutes.

QUEER PRISONERS TAKEN.

Two Blind Men, Woman With Black Eye and Baby in the Toils in Allegheny.

Detectives Johnson and Speer of Allegheny last night locked up a baby, two blind men and a woman with a black eye. This strange company was taken from the front door of a saloon in South Diamond street to Central station. It was reported at police headquarters that they had been begging, and they are charged, all but the baby, with violating a city ordinance.

The baby appears to be not more than two weeks old. It was tightly wrapped in a big shawl, and cried lustily when taken in charge by the matron. The men are Charles and Joseph Fisher, father and son. The woman is the wife of Joseph, and the baby is theirs. They told Supt. Glenn they had arrived in the city from Steubenville in the afternoon and were without money. Both men lost their sight in an explosion in a quarry at New Castle, according to their story to the police. The woman, when questioned about her black eye, said she had been chopping wood and a bit of kindling took an upward flight.

It is this feature which has brought to the rescue of the estate the many friends of the deceased business man.

H. P. Baker, J. C. Kennelly and Fred M. Newberry have issued a call for a meeting of 75 men this afternoon at the office of E. M. Weaver, in Diamond street, at which time a plan for the raising of a fund sufficient to restore the jewels to the family will be formulated. It is expected that the plan will appeal to the friends of the late Mr. Heinemann, and that there will be no difficulty in securing the sum needed.

MYSTERIOUS MOVE IN THE EQUITABLE

Directors Summoned to Meeting from Which Executive Officers Are Barred.

MAY OUST SOME OF THEM

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, May 5.

A call for a meeting of the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, not including the executive officers, was sent out today. It is believed the move is taken to oust some of the officers of the company. The call reads:

"You are respectfully requested to attend an informal conference of the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, not including the executive officers, to be held at the board room of the society, 120 Broadway, Monday, May 8, 1905, at 3 o'clock."

The "executive officers" include President Alexander, Vice President Hyde and Second Vice President Tarbell. It was stated tonight some of the directors denied having received the call, but this was not verified. The purpose of the meeting was not given out officially, but it was stated on "excellent authority," according to the Evening Post, "that the resignation or suspension of President Alexander, Vice President James Hazen Hyde and Second Vice President Gage E. Tarbell will be discussed."

The dispute concerning the resignation of James W. Alexander as co-trustee of the Hyde estate, with the refusal of James Hazen Hyde to accept it, has reopened the floodgates of recrimination in the Equitable controversy. Following a criticism by Mr. Alexander of Mr. Hyde for the latter's refusal to accept his resignation, Frank H. Platt, counsel for the Policy-holders' Protective association, early in the day gave out the following:

Mr. Hyde's letter is a complete revelation of the standpoint from which he regards the administration of the Equitable. It has been charged that he regards this administration not as the management of a sacred trust for the holders of policies, but as a mere perquisite of the holder of the stock. His letter is a complete confession that this charge is true—and is all the more forcible because it is unconscious.

Who named the president and the directors under the terms of the deed of trust? Mr. Hyde. The so-called trustees were merely to register his nomination. They had no powers of any kind except that. He selected a director whom the other directors selected in the same way, named as president. Does Mr. Hyde suggest that this selection is made with any view of the interests of the 600,000 beneficiaries of the society?

There could be no more complete admission that, in view of Mr. Hyde, a director and president is put in office, not to administer and care for the interests of the policyholders, but to maintain the value of the stock. To his mind the offices of director and president do not exist for the benefit of the society, but merely as a fat perquisite of the owner of the majority interest of the stock.

Information concerning an alleged flotation of railroad bonds through the Equitable treasury and from which three directors of the society are said to have profited personally to the extent of $100,000 each, has been brought to the attention of Mr. Hendricks, state superintendent of insurance. This information says that about two years ago a syndicate was formed to engineer a railroad bond issue. The members of the syndicate, wishing to procure a large amount of money, it is said, agreed to appoint Mr. Hyde one of its managers.

After the bonds had been taken up the five managing directors voted $800,000 to be equally divided among themselves as payment for their services. Of these syndicate managers Mr. Hyde was one, Louis Fitzgerald, a director of the Equitable, another, and Winsiow Pierce, of counsel for Mr. Hyde, another. Of the remaining two, one is said to be a director of the Equitable, while the fifth is an outside capitalist.

Henry C. Frick, on leaving the city for Pittsburgh to spend Sunday, being asked as to the work of the investigation committee, said:

The investigating committee is doing its work as rapidly as possible and thoroughly. My letter to Mr. Alexander on April 8 fixed the scope and character of the investigation from which there has been and will be no deviation.

RECEIVED AT WHITE HOUSE.

Vice President Fairbanks Is Host of the International Railway Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—After three hours of discussion this morning, the International Railway congress adjourned to the White House, where Vice President Fairbanks, in the east room, received the members of the congress in behalf of President Roosevelt. Receptions were tendered the delegates also by President W. M. Grinnell, of the Illinois Central railway and Mrs. Grinnell.

No conclusions resulted from the discussion today. The first section considered wooden sleepers or cross ties. The second and third met together and considered great power locomotives, the fourth debated slow freight rates and the fifth light railways and their effect on trunk lines.

Glass Factory Collapses.

A large frame building in Homestead, owned by the Windsor Glass Company, collapsed early yesterday morning, frightening people living in the vicinity, who feared an explosion had occurred at one of the mills. The wagons and fixtures of a carnival company, which were stored in the building, were wrecked. The building had not been used by the glass company for several years. The loss is about $6,000.

Plan Mammoth Lake Steamer.

DETROIT, MICH., May 5.—The Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company has decided to place on the day route between Detroit and Cleveland, an $800,000 passenger steamer, with a capacity of 4,000 deck passengers and berths for 1,600. The American Shipbuilding company has been asked to reserve a berth at one of its yards so that the new passenger boat can be ready to go into commission in June, 1906.

Will Have No Class Day.

Members of the graduating class of the Western University of Pennsylvania have decided to hold a banquet in Hotel Schenley in place of the customary class day exercises. This change is due to the disturbance of previous class day exercises by undergraduates. Prof. Daniel Carhart, dean of the university, thinks the move a wise one, and believes it will "cash rowdyism."

Held Annual Inspection.

The annual inspection of troop A of the Third Pennsylvania regiment, N. B. S. A., was held last night in the Allegheny arsenal auditorium, Butler street. Capt. L. S. A BANQUET IS GIVEN CHOATE

Prominent People at Affair of Lord Mayor of London. Balfour Speaks.

CHIEF GUEST PRAISES MR. REID

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, May 5.—The lord mayor of London gave a farewell banquet tonight to Joseph H. Choate, the retiring American ambassador, which was attended by Premier Balfour, representatives of the nobility, members of parliament, representatives of all professions, classes and parties, lord mayors of different cities, and American officials and citizens in London.

The archbishop of Canterbury pronounced grace and the benediction. The aged lord mayor, a white-bearded, picturesque figure in his rich costume, rose and toasted the king and queen. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman proposed "The President," eulogizing him as "a genuine typical character, characteristic of America, a firm friend of peace, though not perhaps of a quiescent disposition."

Premier Balfour Speaks.

Premier Balfour, in toasting Mr. Choate, said: "No greater honor could have been done me than to have proposed this toast." He congratulated the lord mayor on being the host of Great Britain on this memorable occasion and praised Mr. Choate. Mr. Balfour dilated on the close relations between the two countries and the common sentiment of amity which survived always despite the mistakes of official leaders. He said that with the lapse of decades the old bitterness had been lost in the historic past; that all causes of difficulty had vanished and that there has been merged slowly but surely a feeling of common brotherhood, the surest prospect he ventured to think, of international peace and progress. In conclusion Mr. Balfour said that their farewell to Mr. Choate was not formal and official, but came from full hearts.

On rising Mr. Choate was greeted with rounds of applause. He said that he was homesick and glad to be returning to his native land, where old friends were diminishing as fast as new ones were making here. If he remained much longer, he said, he would have a worse disease than homesickness, namely, anglo-mania. An American president had once wisely said that he would not trust an ambassador in England more than four years because the English would spoil him. They would not spoil him as the Children of Israel spoiled the Midians, but contrarywise by heaping compliments and benefits upon him. He said he did not dare trust himself to speak of the honor he felt in being the guest of such an assembly gathered to say farewell.

Praises King and Queen.

"Altogether too much credit has been attributed to me," Mr. Choate said, "for the happy and delightful relations now existing between the two countries. If I have contributed to maintain what I found on taking up my post the last six years will be the proudest of my life. But the real reason for the happy state of affairs between the countries does not belong to any ambassador, but the two men responsible for their relations are Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Hay. I have never been called into the presence of the king or his illustrious consort without finding them also full of friendship for the country I represent. The king's instincts for peace are unerring, and his genius for conciliation perfect, as he has shown the world in recent weeks."

Before concluding Mr. Choate paid a tribute to Whitelaw Reid, his successor at the court of St. James, and read from his recent speech in New York as a worthy introduction of the new ambassador. He said the British people would find that his successor and old friend had been a lifelong advocate of friendly relations between Great Britain and the United States.

Mr. Choate will be formally called to the bench of the Middle temple of May 9, when, it is expected, King Edward who is also a bencher, will be present.

THIEVES CONTINUE WORK IN EAST END

Yesterday They Had a Very Lucky Season and the Police Are Greatly Worried.

With a force of about 30 "plain clothes" men, in addition to the regular force of uniformed policemen patrolling the streets of the East End, robberies continue to be reported and the police bureau practically admits its inability to cope with the situation.

Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock the residence of Miss Alice M. Kaufman, at North Negley avenue and Margaretta street, was entered by thieves during the absence of the family and the house ransacked. The thieves secured jewelry and other articles of value on which an estimate of $1,500 is placed by the owners. The thieves cut through the glass in the front door and then reaching through the hole thus made unfastened the door catch.

The robbery was not discovered until the return of the family, about 6:30 o'clock, when an investigation revealed the fact that the entire house had been gone through. Closets were opened, dresser drawers ransacked and the contents thrown on the floor in the search for money and valuables. Jewelry, consisting of rings, brooches and earrings to the value of $1,000 was taken, together with about $500 worth of silverware and goods.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning, Policeman Harry Washington, who is the night patrolman on the beat on which the Kaufman residence is located, had an exciting chase after a supposed thief at the home of Harry Ziegler, 212 North Negley avenue. The officer was patroling his district and while across the street from the Ziegler residence saw a roughly dressed man walk across the lawn to the Ziegler porch and bend over a man who was fast asleep in a porch chair. He hurried across and was just in time to prevent the stranger from removing a valuable diamond ring from the sleeping man's finger. The stranger ran at sight of the policeman and made good his escape. The man asleep on the porch was a member of the household.

Yesterday afternoon a bold thief entered a cleaning and dyeing house in Park avenue during the absence of the proprietor, and took off his old suit of clothes and donned a $40 suit that was hanging on a form awaiting the call of its owner. The old clothes were found by the proprietor upon his return several minutes later.

The East End police, as is customary, have denied that any of these robberies took place, though nearly a dozen officers were sent to the Kaufman house when the robbery there was reported over the telephone.

MISSIONARY RALLY.

Members of Allegheny Epworth League Union Discuss Work of Missions.

A missionary rally, under the auspices of the Allegheny City Epworth League union, was held last night in the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny. Brief devotional exercises were held during the afternoon and missionary work was discussed. The women of the church served a lunch following the afternoon exercises.

Miss Martha B. Hixson of New York, assistant secretary of the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, spoke at the evening session, on missionary work in foreign countries. Miss Hixson wore a Chinese costume. Her talk was illustrated. Miss M. Elizabeth Hunter, secretary of the conference league, made a short address on home missions.

Freshmen to Protect Gingrich.

LANCASTER, May 5.—This afternoon the freshmen class of Franklin and Marshall college held an inquiry in the case of Oscar Gingrich of Lebanon, the freshman who recently shot a sophomore while being hazed and whose expulsion from college was requested by the student body. A resolution was adopted condemning Gingrich for carrying a revolver, but declaring that the class would stand by him and protect him from further insult.

ROJESTVENSKY TO MEET NEBOGATOFF

He Has Sailed South to Join His Fleet to Remainder of Pacific Squadron.

FRENCH WARSHIPS ON ALERT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 5.—Admiral Rojestvensky, according to a high naval authority, has sailed south to meet the division of the Russian Second Pacific squadron commanded by Admiral Nebogatoff. The admiralty has information that a Japanese division of fast cruisers and torpedo boat destroyers was sent south for the purpose, if possible, of crippling or destroying Nebogatoff's ships before they could effect a junction with those of Rojestvensky.

The admiralty expresses much gratification at the fact that Admiral Nebogatoff has successfully reached the China sea but appreciates that the composition of his division renders it particularly vulnerable to a swift adversary, especially as the crowding of his ships have not had the training in maneuvering or the target practice which Admiral Rojestvensky's crews had while off the island of Madagascar, and the anxiety here will only be completely relieved when it is known that a junction has been effected.

The Russian armored cruiser Gromoboi, is is announced, has left Vladivostok.

SAIGON, COCHIN-CHINA, May 5.—The Russian division near Hon-Kohe bay, a short distance north of Kamranh bay, was May 2 preparing to leave its moorings the following day. Admiral Rojestvensky had previously informed the French authorities of its proposed departure.

PARIS, May 5.—Admiral DeJonquieres' departure from Saigon with a portion of the French squadron was for the purpose of carrying out the strict orders sent to him from here against permitting any infringement of neutral rights particularly along the coast about Cape St. James, where the Japanese information indicates the Russians have secretly been taking supplies on board.

WILL SHOW HOW CITIES MAKE THEMSELVES FINE

Pittsburgh Architectural Club's Coming Exhibition Promises to Contain Many Interesting Features.

Pittsburghers who attend the coming exhibition of the Pittsburgh Architectural club, to be held at the Carnegie Art galleries from May 22 to June 3, are promised a view of what other cities are doing in the way of public squares. The club has by special effort secured exhibits from those cities, notably from St. Louis and Cleveland.

The designing of bridges to make them architecturally beautiful as well as stable and enduring will be illustrated by some designs submitted by a leading architect who has made a special study of the subject.

The prize designs for the Carnegie Technical schools will be shown not only in the exhibition, but in the souvenir catalogue which will be published by the club.

The hitherto unpublished drawings of the Allegheny County courthouse will also be exhibited, and the catalogue will contain a discussion of the question of the courthouse addition.

WANTS CABINET PLACE.

Protologic Society Hears Argument in Favor of a National Department of Health.

The seventh annual meeting of the American Protologic society, which opened a two-days' session at the Hotel Henry yesterday, will be brought to a close this afternoon after the election of officers. The morning session will be devoted to the reading of papers on scientific subjects. Tonight the members of the organization will witness the performance at the Nixon theater, and tomorrow morning a clinic will be held at the Presbyterian hospital, at which one of the visitors will operate.

Last night's session was devoted to informal addresses by the various physicians, who were called upon by Dr. William M. Beach of Pittsburgh, chairman of the entertainment committee. All of the speakers dwelt upon the necessity of a more thorough preparation for the taking up of special work. Dr. Thomas D. Davis of Pittsburgh advocated the establishment of a national department of public health, with a cabinet officer in charge. This idea originated with Congressman-elect A. J. Barchfeld, who will probably introduce a bill to that effect when he enters upon his congressional duties.

ARE HELD FOR COURT.

Owner of Auto Which Ran Down Two Aged Women Says Accident Was Unavoidable.

Charles C. Bright of 550 Herron avenue, owner of the automobile which ran down Mrs. J. P. Hanna of Aiken avenue, and Mrs. Elisabeth Lowrie of Bellefonte street, Wednesday night, and J. Taylor, his chauffeur, were held for court in the sum of $500 each by Magistrate Moke yesterday morning, to await the result of the injuries to the ladies.

Inspector James McAvoy began an investigation Thursday which was continued through the night, resulting in the arrest of Taylor early yesterday morning. Inspector McAvoy left word at the residence of Mr. Bright to have him call at the police station.

In speaking of the accident Mr. Bright says that the accident was unavoidable as the ladies stopped and then stepped back, immediately in front of the machine as he was attempting to pass behind them. The machine is a seven horsepower runabout, geared to about 10 miles per hour. Mr. Bright said he was traveling at a slow speed.

Distiller and Gauger Arrested.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., May 5.—(Special.)—M. L. Carder, a licensed distiller at distillery No. 5 in Mercer county, and Ellsworth McCoy, United States storekeeper and gauger at the same distillery, were arrested today on a warrant sworn out by the internal revenue collector, charging them with collusion to defraud the government. It is charged that two cisterns were used inside of one and twice as much whisky was made as was reported.

Benefit for Colored Home.

A festival for the benefit of the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Women, Lemington avenue, near Lincoln avenue, East End, will be held at Old City hall next Thursday, the proceeds of which will be applied to the maintenance of the home during the ensuing year. The home is doing good work and is largely supported by the contributions of wealthy white people of the city. It was founded in 1880 and has 21 inmates. It cost $42,500, but is not all paid for.

Noble Winnebago Will Soon Be Extinct.

George W. Sands of Black River Falls, Wis., says that the Winnebago Indians will soon be extinct, because of consumption and the scarcity of marriages. He says the Indians receive rations from the government, but instead of using them as they should they sell them and spend the money for luxuries. Mr. Sands passed through the city last night over the Baltimore & Ohio on his way home.

Gaynor-Greene Case Postponed.

MONTREAL, May 5.—The Gaynor-Greene case has been postponed until next Tuesday. The question of bail will also be decided then, for although the court of appeals yesterday, in refusing the appeal of the prisoners, also refused the request for bail. The judges intimated that the extradition commissioner has the right to allow bail, if he so decides.

NAN PATTERSON IS TO BE SET FREE

She Will Either Be Released on Bail or on Her Own Recognizance.

WILL NOT DISCUSS HER PLANS

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 5. Nan Patterson's liberation is certain. Her freedom is merely delayed pending the return of District Attorney Jerome to New York on Monday. She will either be released on bail, which Mr. Levy has secured for her through a personal friend, or be set free on her own recognizance.

An important factor in Miss Patterson's behalf is the dismissal of the indictments against the J. Morgan Smiths today by Justice Foster. This does not altogether free the sister and brother-in-law of Nan Patterson, because the district attorney has received permission to resubmit the case to the grand jury.

With the spirit that has characterized her actions throughout, Mrs. Smith today frowned down the suggestion that the necessary steps be taken for her immediate liberation.

"And leave Nan here in prison?" she asked. "I guess not. We shall leave here together. She needs me as much now as ever, and I am not so eager for liberty that I will run away from here without her when her own freedom is so near at hand."

Miss Patterson has entirely recovered her health and spirits. Scores of letters have come to the prisoner in the past two days bidding her take hope and not be cast down by the failure of the jury to agree. Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster, the well-known authoress, spent half an hour with Miss Patterson and her sister today.

Miss Patterson steadfastly refuses to discuss her future plans. She has had half a dozen offers to return to the stage, but she will not consider any of them until her freedom is an accomplished fact, and she has a time, to-day with her mother in the old home at Washington.

JURY RECOMMENDS GATES FOR ALL GRADE CROSSINGS

Numerous Accidents from Trains at McKeesport Said to Be Due to Their Absence.

Coroner Armstrong yesterday held the inquest into the death of Josiah D. Meadowall, who was killed at the Twelfth street crossing of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, McKeesport, last Tuesday. The jury recommended that gates be placed at all crossings where deemed necessary by councils. There are no gates on the crossings beyond Ninth street. Councils did not require the railroad company to place gates at the new crossings, but as there have been a number of accidents at those places recently the jury advised construction of them at once.

Lloyd Ross Mathews of Somerset, Pa., who died Thursday in the Allegheny county jail, was identified by his brother, George O., yesterday at the morgue. His body was taken to Somerset. Matthews was the son of the county treasurer of Somerset county.

The body of the man taken out of the Ohio river at Davis island dam yesterday was last night identified as Thomas Nixon, 1341 Bluff street, steward of the steamer Andrew Axton. It is not known when he fell into the river. From papers found on the man taken out of the Ohio river at the foot of Franklin street, Allegheny, yesterday, it is supposed he is E. P. Keenig.

STUDENTS NOT FINED.

W. & J. Boys Dismissed by Burgess, Who Told Police They Were Overzealous.

WASHINGTON, PA., May 5.—(Special.)—Burgess Templeton promptly discharged Clifton F. Critchfield of Canton and W. D. Morgan of Washington, who were taken into custody Thursday, after the parade of Pawnee Bill's Wild West show had passed. The boys are students at Washington and Jefferson college, and with about 30 others, saw the parade without interfering with the display.

A half-hour after that, as the boys were going along Main street, they gave the college yell and sang college songs. Two overzealous policemen appeared and ordered them to keep quiet. As the youths stopped to listen to the policeman's talk the two students mentioned above, being nearest the officers, were taken from the crowd to the office of the burgess. That official soon after dismissed them, without a fine, as was stated in yesterday's papers, and at the same time told the officers that the actions of the young men were not such as to justify interference by the policemen. Another feature of yesterday's item that is denied is that several heads were damaged. Nobody was hurt, nor were any clubs used.

W. & J. WINS DEBATE.

Defeats Allegheny College in Discussion Over Compulsory Labor Arbitration.

MEADVILLE, May 5.—(Special.)—This evening Washington and Jefferson college debaters defeated Allegheny in a dual debate between the two colleges. The subject was: "Assuming the adoption of adequate constitutional amendments, resolved that courts should be established in the United States for the compulsory arbitration of disputes between employer and employed."

D. M. Donaldson, Huntington, W. Va., P. R. White, Mt. Pleasant, O., and J. M. Highberger, West Newton, representing Washington and Jefferson, had the negative, and L. A. Swanson, O. C. Jones and W. P. Sturtevant, representing Allegheny, the affirmative.

Dr. W. H. Crawford, LL. D., presided and the Hon. Jerome B. Fisher, Jamestown, N. Y., and the Rev. F. W. Hays, D. D., Grove City, and Prof. W. S. Hadley, Sharon, were the judges.

GAS WORKS SOUGHT BY NEW COMPANY

Capitalists Will Make Proposition Fair to the People of Philadelphia.

MILLIONS BEHIND CONCERN

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 5.

An independent company of Philadelphia and New York capitalists is going to bid for the gas works lease. Its bid will be much higher and much more advantageous to the city than that of the United Gas Improvement company. Its members are business men, who see a good proposition. They want to operate the gas works as a profitable business, and say they expect to win.

There will be no question about the company's financial resources. Those who compose it will lay down the required $750,000 "good faith" check as a mere trifle, and will have all the millions they need right with them when their bid is opened by the councils' finance committee on May 15.

In positive terms this announcement was made this afternoon by John F. Winston, chairman of the committee of 70. The committee has no connection with the company of capitalists. Mr. Winston says he is not a member of it, but it was formed largely through his instrumentality, and he is fully conversant with the capitalists' plans. For a long time he announced this to reporters. Mr. Winston sent a letter to Chairman Alexander De Haven, of the finance committee, informing him that such a bid would be made.

When the lease project drat was made public, Mr. Winston got in touch with a gas manufacturing concern which supplies gas to several second-class cities in the east. He consulted with its engineers and learned a lot about the making of gas. Particularly he studied the cost. Armed with authoritative figures and statements, he went to the men who are now allied for bidding purposes and told them what a good chance for investment the Philadelphia gas works presented. The capitalists consulted other engineers and experts, and agreed with Mr. Winston.

They learned that they could make a bid for the gas works lease which would be fair to Philadelphia, and on terms which would be fair to consumers, and over and above the money that expended they could make an excellent profit for themselves. So they got together and made ready.

PAIR QUARREL; DEATH COMES

Allegheny Man Shot Through Head and Wife Drinks Vial of Wood Alcohol.

TRAGEDY A STRANGE ONE

While struggling with his wife for possession of a revolver yesterday afternoon, Harry Mickel, aged 31, of 700 Cedar avenue, Allegheny, was shot through the head and instantly killed. His body was taken to the morgue.

Annie Mickle, wife of the man, is in the Allegheny General hospital suffering from a draught of wood alcohol, taken with suicidal intent. The prompt and intelligent action of Detective William Speer probably saved the life of the woman. Speer arrived at the house a few minutes after the woman had swallowed the stuff, and while awaiting the arrival of the hospital ambulance, prepared an emetic of milk and the white of eggs. Mrs. Mickle drank this and the hospital physicians said last night she would likely recover.

There had been little happiness in the domestic life of the Mickles for a long time, according to those who lived in the same house with them. Mickle, who was a conductor on the Spring Garden line, went home for lunch yesterday and was to report for work again at 5 o'clock. Shortly before 2 o'clock Mrs. George Reyburn and Mrs. Emma Chapman, who live on the lower floors of the building, heard the report of a shot. Mickle and his wife had been quarreling.

Tragedy Learned of Late.

A few minutes after 6 o'clock last evening Mrs. Mickle came down stairs with some personal effects in her hands and gave them to Alice Woomer, who lives with the Reyburns.

"I've killed him and I want to die," Mrs. Mickle said. Then she told of drinking wood alcohol. A telephone message was sent to police headquarters and Detective Speer and Special Officer Michael Feeney responded.

On the floor of their front room, on the third floor, the body of Mickle was found. A 32-caliber revolver was clutched in his right hand and the hole at each side of his head showed the course the bullet had taken.

Superintendent John Glenn visited Mrs. Mickle in the hospital last night. She says she and her husband had been married two years. Last September they came here from Philadelphia and since then Mickle has worked for the railways company. Mickle was insanely jealous, according to the woman, and made life miserable with his bickering. Mrs. Mickle went shopping yesterday morning with another woman and her husband saw her. When he came home he started to upbraid her for leaving the house. She says he declared he was going to kill her and with this object opened a trunk and took out a revolver and pointed it at her. She reached for it and the two struggled. The weapon was discharged and without a groan Mickle sank to the floor with a ball through his brain.

Mrs. Mickle Prepared for Death.

Then Mrs. Mickle says she fainted and when she recovered consciousness she was lying beside the body of her husband. After a while she wrote a note addressed to Alice Woomer and prepared to end her own life. The note tells the story.

Alice, do me a favor. You see what has happened. I could not stand it any longer. I leave everything in this room, that belongs to me, to you. And if you want you can divide with Mrs. In my pocket you will find $22 50 and my watch; this ring is there, too. You can have it if you want it. Alice, there is enough money to put me away. I would not do it, but I cannot stand it. Please, Alice, attend to me. There is money coming to him up in the barn. Tell Mr. Maggi to get it. Good-by forever. In this little trunk you will find those papers for my storage in Philadelphia. Please sell that. Mrs. ANNIE JANE MICKLE.

Superintendent Glenn thinks there is something unusual about the tragedy. The woman declared before the arrival of the police that she killed her husband, but this she denied at the hospital last night. The hospital authorities were told to hold the woman if she recovers sufficiently to leave the place.

Mrs. Mickle has no relatives in this country. Mickle has a brother who is a police lieutenant in Philadelphia, and a sister, Annie, living at No. 1120 East Montgomery avenue, Philadelphia.

VISITS FILTER SITE.

Controller Larkin Wants to Know Why Force of City Engineers Are to Be Doubled.

For some time Controller Larkin has been curious to know what work is being done on the filter site at Aspinwall by the engineers of the bureau of filtration and yesterday he started out to satisfy himself on this matter. Leaving his home at 7 o'clock in the morning, and accompanied by Auditor F. A. Kimball, he boarded a street car for Aspinwall and, arriving there, got a team to drive to the filter site.

He spent the morning making observations and arrived at the city hall at noon. He said he had seen some stakes driven on the filter grounds and supposed they were driven by city engineers, but he had been unable to distinguish between the city engineers and the employes of the T. A. Gillespie Company, which is constructing the plant.

The controller's chief object was to ascertain, if possible, the necessity of 60 more employes in the filter bureau. There are now 67 employes in the bureau and an ordinance to more than double the number is pending in councils.

Leone says the money was sent and that he can show a receipt in a few days. Leone was held for court and furnished bail.

M. & M. TOURISTS TIRED BUT HAPPY

Association's Third Trade Excursion Was a Pronounced Success.

WARM RECEPTION IN BUTLER

At 5:30 o'clock last evening the third trade excursion of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association ended at the Union station. During the three excursions of the organization nearly 3,500 miles have been covered by an average of 130 persons. Notwithstanding the trains ran on special schedules, in which there is usually an element of danger, and that the schedules were not lived up to, which is still more dangerous, not a casualty of the most trifling character occurred on any one of the three trips. This may be due to the luck of the M. & M., but is probably attributable to the character of the train, solid vestibuled Pullman cars, and to the care of the officials of the roads over which the train passed.

Everybody knows the object of these tours is to advertise Pittsburgh, but it is evident that they also advertise the railroads; or, rather, make familiar the up-to-date methods of railway travel. On the five-day trip concluded yesterday some towns were visited where a Pullman car had never been seen, and few had ever had the opportunity of seeing a solid train of 10 palace cars.

The last day of the trip, which started at 9 a. m. Monday, and took in nearly 30 towns, began at Kittanning, where the train stopped over night. The first stop was at Johnetta, founded by John H. Jones, and where he has in operation an immense plant for the manufacture of brick and sewer pipe. This was inspected under the guidance of Joseph L. Good.

Welcomed in Freeport.

The next stop was at Freeport, where several large distilleries are located, but none of its product is sold there at all, because it is a "dry" town. The Columbia band met the visitors and escorted them to the business center of the town, where Attorney S. E. Clark welcomed them in a brief but clever address. President E. J. Lloyd of the association responded in a happy vein.

The next and last visit of the trip was paid to the hustling town of Butler. The train was met by Mayor William M. Kennedy and Dr. M. E. Headland, H. B. Shaman, Edward G. Caughey, Col. Thomas Hays, Capt. H. A. Ayres, Peter Duffy, George E. Heineman, Levi M. Wise and Secretary John C. Graham of the Butler board of trade. The little Misses Margaret Rumberger and Elizabeth Shaman presented each of the visitors with a white carnation for his buttonhole.

The tourists were escorted to open street cars, accompanied by the mayor and Chief of Police Ed. Schultz, with Mr. Graham, to describe the places of interest. The Standard Steel Car Company's plant, which employs 4,000 men, was visited, and the town was pretty thoroughly covered before the cars returned to the courthouse. Here Mr. Kennedy extended the freedom of the city to the visitors and introduced Judge James M. Galbreath. The judge said:

While Butler is a little city, it thoroughly appreciates its own worth and dignity. We also appreciate the greatness of Greater Pittsburgh, for that is the name we always use now in referring to your city. It is a good thing to be part of a good community. It is a great thing to be part of a great community. We appreciate very highly the fact that we are part of a great community that has its center in Pittsburgh, and we watch with interest its progress toward the greater city. Every community has a right to grow, especially those two cities—Pittsburgh and Allegheny. We hope for Pittsburgh and all its interests the highest success.

And Home Again.

Then the train started for home by way of the Brilliant cut-off. Many of the party disembarked at East Liberty and the remainder at the Union station.

Every man on the train was enthusiastic over the results of the trip. President Lloyd said: "The success of the excursion exceeds all my expectations. For my own house, I can personally say that the expense has more than repaid us. We are getting in closer touch with the people, making new friends and keeping friends with those who are already ours."

Manager James W. Wardrop said: "We have learned from this trip that because the cities visited are in our own state and all within a few hours' ride of Pittsburgh, is no evidence that the trade of those cities is ours. Every town appears to be prosperous, with lots of energy and hustle, and always attractive to trade. Therefore the city of Pittsburgh, before the trip is finished, has practically declared to closely follow the acquaintances made and see to it that the Pittsburgh market gets its full share."

Bricklayers and Masons Strike.

The bricklayers and masons employed by the Iron City Construction Company went out on strike yesterday, alleging the firm had employed non-union men. Business Agent Andy Kosatch of the stone masons, and Business Agent Daniel Gildernew of the bricklayers, have arranged to meet the officials of the company this morning at 9 o'clock. A settlement is expected.

Gather Violets by the Bushel.

Pupils of the Springdale public school showered the pupils of the Third ward school of Allegheny, with nine bushels of wild violets yesterday noon. Prof. D. A. Brown of the Springdale school, assisted by the students of room No. 7, gathered the violets yesterday morning, and brought them to Allegheny on the noon train over the West Penn railroad.

Fines Bad Italians.

John Lucas and George Augie, Italians, were fined $25 and costs each yesterday at No. 3 police station, Allegheny, for disorderly conduct. The two attended a wedding on Tuesday night and got into a fight. Both used knives and when the police arrived the Italians tried to escape by cutting their way through the crowd. Two spectators were slightly injured.

FIRST CELEBRATION OF SCHILLER'S DAY

Techniscber Verein of Pittsburgh Honors the Memory of German National Poet.

The Technischer Verein of Pittsburgh claims to be the first of the local German societies to honor the memory of the poet Schiller in the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of his death. With a characteristic German celebration the members of the Technischer Verein in the Hotel Lamont last night recalled the glory of the national poet of the Fatherland, and Fraulein Ellers, a daughter of the society, placed the laurel wreath upon a heroic statue of Schiller.

The celebration was a delightful memorial service. The exercises opened by the singing of the "Deutsche Lied." This was followed by a recitation in German by Miss Annie Kusebach, and Prof. F. Lohstoeter addressed the gathering on the effect of Schiller's life and work upon the German people everywhere, as well as upon the literature of all nations.

An adaptation from the drama of "Wilhelm Tell," written by William Heeren, was presented with scenery and costumes. The characters in the play were impersonated by Mrs. Lohstoeter and C. V. Witt, Karl Utehart, B. Scheuer and Miss Ellers contributed to the musical and elocutionary features of the celebration. A luncheon and dancing closed the festivities.

Arrangements for next week's celebrations of Schiller day have not been completed. The anniversary will fall on Tuesday, May 9. Tomorrow evening the Allegheny Turnverein in Allegheny Turner hall will present Schiller's drama, Cabale und Liebe." On Tuesday a banquet will be held. The Central Turnverein of Pittsburgh has been equally active and they will have a big celebration on Tuesday. The South Side Turners and the societies in the suburbs will not overlook the anniversary so sacred to the German people. The principal banquet of Tuesday will be held at W. F. Hammel's cafe in Diamond street.

HOLD SPRING RALLY.

Allegheny County Christian Endeavor Union Meets in Quarterly Session.

The spring rally of the Allegheny County Christian Endeavor union was held last night in the Second Presbyterian church, Eighth street. The building was decorated with May blossoms, ferns, palms and potted plants. Following prayer by the pastor, the Rev. S. Edward Young, State Treasurer J. H. Stauff called attention to a pamphlet issued in connection with the 22d international convention, to be held in Baltimore from July 5 to 10, giving information relative to railroad rates, accommodations, etc. He requested that each union in the county be represented. Announcement was made that the annual picnic of the county union would be held at Rock Point on July 10.

The Rev. Dr. Ramsey Smith of the Shadyside Presbyterian church made the address. The session closed with benediction by the Rev. W. A. Phillips, president of the East End branch of the union. About 175 members were in attendance, and at the conclusion of the meeting the ladies of the Second church served refreshments.

P. & L. E. COMPLETES ITS SUMMER SCHEDULE

Running Time Between This City and Buffalo Is Now Reduced to Six Hours.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad has completed arrangements for its new schedule which will go into effect on Sunday, May 14. The principal change made, and which shows the enterprise of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie officials, is that of reducing the running time between Pittsburgh and Buffalo. When the new schedule goes into effect trains will travel between the two cities in six hours.

Three years ago the Lake Erie established a train to Buffalo making the run in what was then considered marvelous time—seven hours. Last year the running time was cut 10 minutes. Commencing Sunday, May 14, the new train will be started at 10 o'clock in the morning. The schedule is fixed at an average of about 50 miles an hour. From Ashtabula the route is over the famous Lake Shore tracks, and the running along this stretch which, by the way, is admittedly the best piece of track on the whole New York Central lines system, will equal that of the well-known Twentieth Century Limited.

The train, which is due to arrive at Buffalo at 4:15 in the afternoon, will be composed of a new combination car, a magnificent mahogany cafe dining coach, and a Pullman observation car. The return service is to be an exact counterpart, leaving Buffalo at 9:45 a. m., and reaching Pittsburgh at 4 p. m. The equipment of both trains is identical. Night service to Buffalo is also to be improved somewhat on the new schedule, a direct service to Toronto and a through sleeping car to Clayton on the St. Lawrence being arranged.

PROVES GREAT SUCCESS.

Retail Grocers Jubilant Over What Has Been Achieved by Pure Food Show.

The Pure Food show, which has been held in Old City hall for the past three weeks, will close tonight, the association having decided not to attempt to carry it beyond the period first agreed on. The show has been very satisfactory to the association, and plans are being made for next year's event. Already contracts have been signed by a number of the exhibitors in this year's show, sufficient in number to warrant the association in going ahead with the plans for next year.

Every display will be at its best tonight, and the exhibitors are preparing for the largest crowd of the season. The Todd-Frey orchestra has prepared a number of special pieces for the occasion. The cooking lecture at this afternoon's session will be by Miss M. O. McGowin, who will demonstrate "Milk Sherbet and Chocolate Cakes."

Letter Carriers to Celebrate.

Letter carriers of Pittsburgh have arranged to celebrate the passage of the Greater Pittsburgh bill with a banquet at the Hotel Henry, on the evening of May 15. Postmaster George Holliday and Congressmen Dalzell, Burke, Barchfeld and Graham are to be among the speechmakers.

Open until 10 o'clock tonight.

We Paid $100,000

For Liquozone, Yet We Give You a 50c Bottle Free.

We paid $100,000 for the American rights to Liquozone; the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others. We cured all kinds of germ diseases with it—thousands of the most difficult cases obtainable. We proved that in germ troubles it always accomplishes what medicine cannot do. Now we ask you to try it—try it at our expense. Test it as we did; see what it does. Then you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do. You will use it, not only to get well, but to keep well. And it will save nearly all of your sickness.

Kills Inside Germs.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has for more than 20 years been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it can not kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact that gives Liquozone its worth to humanity. And that worth is so great that we have spent over one million dollars to supply the first bottle free to each sick one we learned of.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

The testimony taken at the coroner's inquest in the case of young Lappe, contained nothing to support the theory that he was hit by a glancing shot. The character of the wound indicates that the revolver was aimed straight at him. The question whether such a use of firearms was warrantable will now go to the courts as the verdict of the coroner's jury recommended that the policeman who did the shooting should be held for the action of the grand jury on the charge of murder. The conclusion will be generally approved, as called for by the facts of the case.

Controller Larkin is taking a proper course by making a personal inspection to inform himself of the justice of the demand of the filtration bureau for additional employes. If the increase is necessary in order to maintain proper inspection of the work and to push it to completion, a very simple calculation will show that it would be sound economy to grant it. The object is to complete the plant in three years, and as the interest on the filtration loans amounts to over a quarter of a million a year delay brought about by parsimony would be a losing operation in dollars and cents, to say nothing of the loss to the public health by postponing the introduction of pure water supply.

The great Shinto festival going on in Japan gives the clue to an understanding of the cold-blooded bravery of the Japanese. Although Shintoism is usually described as ancestor worship, that does not really convey the idea. Its vital principle is an intense, realistic belief in the continuity of existence beyond the grave, so that the living generation forms but a part of the national existence, the spirits of the departed forming a much greater part. Thus the living are linked to the dead in ties of homage and veneration and are sustained in their duties by the thought that the spirits of family ancestors and of departed heroes look down upon them. This belief enters into Japanese character as a motive force of extraordinary force and persistence. When the crown prince visited Shokonsha temple yesterday and addressed the spirits of departed heroes he expressed the characteristic thought of Shintoism. Admiral Togo touched the same sentiment when in his modest address to his officers and men after the fall of Port Arthur, relating what had been accomplished, he expressed the hope that the spirits of their ancestors would be satisfied with their conduct. It is this belief which sends Japanese forlorn hopes to their doom dressed in their best as to a festival, with hearts full of exultation over the honor shown them in thus gaining distinction in the presence of the spirits of ancestors.

A Successful Tour.

So satisfactory has been the tour of the special train of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, which returned home yesterday, that it has been determined to run two more excursions this year. One will go eastward as far as Harrisburg, the other westward into northern Ohio. Each will penetrate a prosperous region traversed by direct lines of communication radiating from this city. Each has much in common with this center of industry and commerce, since they have wants Pittsburgh can supply and products that are needed in Pittsburgh. The requisite thing is to bring them into touch and that is what the trade excursions do so admirably.

On the tour of this week the Pittsburgh train passed through territory that has long been tributary to Cleveland and Buffalo, more than to this city, though lines of transportation and other conditions favor trading here. It also traversed a region near to Pittsburgh that has been jobbing in the east to its disadvantage. Everywhere the Pittsburghers were given royal receptions, words of encouragement, promises of closer relations and in many places actual trade orders were forced upon the visitors. There can be no doubt much good has been accomplished, and in connection with the incoming trade excursions a material increase in the business of the city with those territories will follow. This young association has done much to bring Pittsburgh into possession of her own.

Will Keep Right On.

A series of arrests have been made of officers and editors of The Gazette on charges of criminal libel upon informations made in Butler county by one Hay Philips and similar warrants have been served in another newspaper office. It does not appear that Hay Philips is individually concerned by the publications upon which his proceedings against The Gazette staff are based, as his name is not mentioned therein, neither is there any reference in them to Butler county affairs. The matters of which he complains as a crime against the commonwealth consist of reports of proceedings in the Allegheny graft cases, the particular articles singled out being mainly reports of interviews with Dr. S. S. Woodburn and Attorney John Marron given as news of the day on a matter of great public interest and importance.

It has yet to be discovered what prompted Hay Philips to invite the attention of Butler county grand juries to news reports concerning public officials of Allegheny city in Allegheny county, or why, if such reports are actionable, these officials do not proceed upon their own account, but at any rate that makes no difference to us. We regard it as one of the first duties of a newspaper to give the public any pertinent information obtained from responsible sources concerning the behavior of public officials. They are public servants. The people are their masters, entitled to know how their servants are behaving themselves. The Gazette serves the public and hence regards itself as a proper medium of criticism and information as to the character and conduct of public servants.

We do not know of a more imperative duty of the press than to keep the public informed of such proceedings as those known as the Allegheny graft cases. When persons upon whom public employment has been bestowed are so unfortunate as to become surrounded by a cloud of suspicion that their trusteeship has been prostituted for gain and their official opportunities have been utilized in the pursuit of base illicit profits, the people, their masters, have a right to know, and it is the duty of the press to be a talebearer when there is a straight tale to tell. There is no violation of privacy here. It is matter proper for public information. However trying this may be to Hay Philips we shall keep right on with the discharge of this duty. It is impossible to suppress discussion of these charges. They must be met and answered.

Regulating Lighting Charges.

The committee of the New York legislature which investigated the charges made by gas and electric lighting companies in New York city found that rates were unjustifiably high and reported seven bills for the protection of the public. These bills establish a state public service commission to supervise and regulate the operations of gas and electric lighting and power companies, and also provide for an inspection of meters. Four of the bills carry out requests made to the legislature by Mayor McClellan. They authorize a municipal electric lighting plant, fix a 75-cent rate for gas, reduce the price of electricity and give the city government power to inspect gas meters and regulate gas pipe pressure.

The lower branch of the New York legislature passed all seven bills, almost unanimously. There was a hard battle in the senate, where corporation interests exerted their utmost influence. Stories of colossal bribery were afloat. Gov. Higgins recommended the enactment of the measures and Republican caucus action was taken in favor of the bills, but there was a squad of bolters and enactment became doubtful. Eventually all the bills squeezed through except the one making a 75-cent rate, which was lost on a tie vote. As the state commissioner established by one of the bills has power to fix rates, the 75-cent rate may come anyhow.

The action taken by the state of New York is likely to be imitated by other states. Evidence abounds that public service corporations are prone to use their franchises to impose upon the public. There is no business reason why gas, electric lighting and telephone charges should be higher in this country than in any other, and the explanation is to be found in the lack of public control permitting the companies to make outrageous inflations of capital account and to exact inordinate profits from the public. In fact, the very franchises which they receive on the plea of public service are frequently employed to oppress the public. A noted instance is the effort which the Philadelphia Company has made to compel consumers to refrain from using natural gas for lighting purposes. In their capacity as purveyors of natural gas they encouraged the public to use that commodity in every possible way. When they got control of an artificial gas company they reversed their policy and endeavored to force the use of artificial gas by unlawful restrictions upon the rights of users of natural gas. It is such corporation arrogance which has prompted the New York legislation, and the precedent will not be neglected by other communities. The corporations have sown the storm and will reap the whirlwind.

The Rate Making Power.

In answer to an inquiry from the senate committee on interstate commerce Attorney General Moody has rendered an important opinion upon the power of the national government to fix railroad rates. The opinion holds with great positiveness that the legislative authority of the national government is competent to fix railroad rates and to delegate the exercise of that power to an administrative commission. That power is not a judicial function and cannot be conferred upon the courts of the United States either by way of original or appellate jurisdiction. But the courts have the power to investigate rates fixed by legislative authority and to restrain their enforcement if found to be confiscatory in their effect.

The opinion is based upon the decisions of the supreme court in cases which raised all these points. The conclusions reached are adverse to the scheme proposed of establishing a court of transportation. The power can only be exercised as a legislative function, but that will permit delegation to a commission. The acts of that commission will, however, be subject to review, and Mr. Moody holds that any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional. This seems to imply that even if the law conferred upon the commission authority to give immediate effect to its decisions upon rates the courts might interfere by injunction. The importance of the point is obvious, as if sound it would practically leave things just about as they are now. In that case the only practical mode of relief from the delays which now make the commission's decisions of such small importance would be to provide means for accelerating the action of the courts. The opinion is a very important contribution to the study of the problem now before the country, and it will doubtless be the subject of extensive discussion.

The Business Situation.

Something of a lull is reported in some branches of the iron market, but taking the industry as a whole has seldom, if ever, been in a healthier condition, and the outlook was probably never brighter. In industries related to the iron trade there is increasing activity, and in agriculture, the greatest industry of all, conditions are well-nigh perfect. Experts estimate that on the 1st instant the condition of winter wheat was 91.1 per cent of an average crop, as compared with 74.5 per cent at the corresponding date a year ago. The weather during the week has also been favorable to outdoor work, and seeding is progressing rapidly.

As to the soundness of general business, the best evidence is furnished by the record of commercial failures. For the month of April the number reported by R. G. Dun & Co. was only 833 in the United States, involving liabilities of $8,056,866. For the same month last year the number was 1,013 involving more than $13,000,000. The decrease is uniform throughout both manufacturing and trading circles.

In view of these conditions, the average reader may be puzzled to reconcile the liquidation and decline in values in the stock market. It is by no means an anomaly for the stock market to apparently run counter to the actual state of finance and trade. On the contrary, it often happens that business and speculation pursue different courses. The explanation is that the stock market is always engaged in an endeavor to anticipate the future. All last fall, for instance, while the iron trade was extremely dull, when the presidential campaign was in progress, when bank reserves were declining, and when the merchant and manufacturers could not see anything very encouraging in the outlook, the stock market continued to advance and values reached the highest level for two years. The stock market is not omniscent, but the leaders of the stock market are men in close touch with business affairs. These leaders foresaw that the forced economy pursued by the great corporations for nearly a year and a half, embracing the latter part of 1903 and the greater part of 1904, must come to an end in 1905. Railway equipment must be bought and improvements made, and the placing of orders of this character was bound to stimulate trade, increase traffic and enhance earnings. The forecast was fully verified by events. Last week the United States Corporation reported the largest amount of unfilled orders on its books in its history. This week one railroad placed an order for 10,000 cars at a cost approximating $12,000,000. Stock market operators who then backed their faith in future improvement by purchasing securities at low prices have been taking profits by selling to the public which waits for the evidence of improvement before buying.

The present declining tendency in the stock market, however, does not necessarily mean that Wall street is discounting a radical change in business conditions six months hence. Several factors have arisen within the past few weeks which have absolutely no bearing upon general business conditions, but which do exert an influence upon speculative sentiment. The Equitable Life affair, the evidence of friction among large railroad financiers, the collapse of the wheat deal, and the various investigations which have been made into corporation affairs with the view to applying legislative correctives—all these things have an influence upon the speculator in stocks, although they have little or no bearing upon the growing of grain, the manufacture of products, or the distribution of merchandise. Then, too, the country is entering the season of crop "scares," when the professional speculator plays upon the fears of the public. The present reaction in the stock market is natural, and probably only an incident in the greater movement that may follow the harvesting of bountiful crops.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 5.—The small boy peril had no terrors for the two coaches which left the Holland house today, carrying members of New York society to Ardsley and the new Belmont race track. Bicycle policemen had been ordered by Commissioner McAdoo to watch the two coaches until they had passed the danger line, while Anthony L. Debbs, a bicycle policeman, who had been specially detailed to follow the coach Venture through the East Side and see it safely on the ferry on its way to the Belmont track, was on hand to chase the youngsters.

And it is well that there was a guard for the Venture, for it offered an unusually good mark today for the small boy's stones and sticks. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt was the hostess of a society party, and the coach carried, among others, Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, Miss Grace Chapin, Lord Falconer and Peter Gerry. Robert L. Gerry of New York and Newport was at the reins. Just three-quarters of an hour before the Venture, carrying Mrs. Vanderbilt's guests, left the hotel, the Pioneer, with Alfred G. Vanderbilt driving, left on its daily trip to Ardsley. Mr. Vanderbilt said he didn't care particularly whether a policeman accompanied his coach, as his route would take him through a "more civilized part of the city."

Yesterday a policeman rode ahead of the coach on his bicycle. He carried a small horn, and every time the fanfare of the bugle sounded on the coach he would emulate the sounds given forth by the larger horn. This pleased the small boys, so possible trouble was averted.

Arbor Day Celebrated in Schools.

Today was arbor day and school children all over the city celebrated it with appropriate ceremonies. In the suburban districts, where the school yards have lawns, tree planting is the most popular method of observing the day, but in the crowded sections of the city, where the yards are paved and grass is an unknown quantity, class room exercises hold sway. Here, in place of trees, seeds and small plants are embedded in window boxes and flower pots. But in either case, whether trees or seeds are planted, the result is the same—the children become acquainted with nature and are encouraged to protect trees and shrubs. The custom of observing arbor day has been in vogue for many years. In 1895 it was legalized by a law which stated that the Friday following May 1 should be known throughout the state as arbor day.

Mayor McClellan Escapes Work.

Happy as a schoolboy relieved of a disagreeable task, is Mayor McClellan today, for the bill empowering him to delegate the signing of city bonds to a subordinate has been passed by the legislature. He has signed his name 60,000 times for this purpose in the last year.

"Yes, the bill has been passed," said the mayor with a broad smile today. "I gave a hearing on it the other day. Of course the hearing was entirely pro forma. Nobody appeared for or against the bill, and silently I made the only argument on it. You may guess I took the affirmative side." The mayor then told how an issue of $16,000,000 this year compelled him to repeat the gold bond signature 60,000 times.

"Bill Bailey" Hears the Call.

Some of the 45 Yale university students who came over to New York to round out their sociological studies by "seeing things" in the great city, got lost down in the Bowery last night, but the police and the old song "Come Back, Bill Bailey," brought the whole body together again after all sorts of excitement. The stragglers were lost sight of in Chinatown and the police were searching for them for an hour. When the main body of students struck the Atlantic garden the joyous refrain, "Oh, Won't You Come Back, Bill Bailey?" greeted their ears. The lost were found and Prof. Bailey, who is in charge of the expedition, lighted his pipe with evident satisfaction.

One Tammany Leader is a "Quitter."

The Tammany organization in the Seventeenth assembly district must look for a new leader, for Daniel F. McMahon, who has been at its head for many years, has resigned. Mr. McMahon's resignation has not yet been accepted, but it is declared to be final. McMahon has been worried by a defection among the Democrats in his district against his leadership and by the determined opposition of John F. Curry. Last fall the Tammany ranks were badly split and Senator Plunkitt was defeated for re-election by Martin Saxe. McMahon and his friends have come to the conclusion that it will be impossible to subdue the opposition, so he steps out.

Proud Day for the Police.

There will be over 5,000 men in line in the annual police parade tomorrow afternoon and it is expected that it will be the most magnificent in the history of the department. Starting from the lower end of Broadway the line of march will be up to Twenty-third street, then in Madison avenue to Fortieth street, through Fortieth street to Fifth avenue to the reviewing stand at the Worth monument. Eleven bands will furnish music for 10 regiments of men. Chief Inspector Moses W. Cortright will be in command. One of the picturesque features of the parade will be that of the traffic squad on horseback. On their way down Broadway to take position at the Battery they will halt in front of the New York Life Insurance building at Leonard street, where they will be presented with a fine silk flag in honor of their work in regulating traffic.

Monument for Hebrew Soldiers.

At the Salem Fields cemetery, Cypress Hills, Long Island, will be unveiled Sunday afternoon a monument erected to the memory of Hebrew soldiers who fell in the war of the rebellion. The ceremony will be conducted under the auspices of the Citizens auxiliary committee of the Hebrew Union Veteran association, of which Nathan Strauss is chairman and Jacob W. Mack secretary. An address will be made by Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles. The exercises will begin with a march by the Hebrew Orphan Asylum band.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

There are at least two sides to every question. Were there less than two there would be no question at all.

Possibly you have been surprised to find an opposite side to the proposition which appeared to you to be entirely one-sided; and possibly still more surprised to find that the other side was as strong as the one which you had accepted as being the whole thing.

Yesterday an editorial paragraph taken from Outing, a high-class sporting journal, was reproduced in this column. It was in relation to the costliness of college games, such as football, baseball and boating. These figures were surprisingly large, such as $3,725 50 for football armor, and $2,378 13 for the baseball squad; while the entire cost of training and outfitting the Yale football team to meet Harvard and Princeton last year aggregated $26,966 66.

This naturally led to the conclusion that college games are expensive. The reader would probably infer that these expenses had to be dug up from the pockets of the players and their friends, which would make it pretty hard on those who hadn't well-filled pockets.

Fortunately there is another side to this question and one that is no less interesting than the other.

* * *

A Yale graduate came forward promptly with the annual financial statement for last year. This opens with a general summary, as follows:

Receipts of football association $70,722 04; expenses $24,996 08.

Baseball association, receipts $23,312 70; expenses $15,179 85.

Boat club, receipts $8,662 49; expenses $10,626 85.

Athletic association, receipts $3,689 43; expenses $7,221 97.

Maintainance of Yale field, $9,150.

Total receipts $106,336 66, expenses $75,174 43, leaving a balance to the good of $31,222 23.

That's a horse of another color, and a better color, too.

Is it any wonder that Yale men came in and registered kicks? You would have done the same if you properly respect your alma mater.

While the figures copied from the Outing article are correct as far as they go, they don't go far enough, as you will readily see from the foregoing summary.

It sometimes happens that by giving one side of a story you call out the other side, and with it bring to light a lot of facts that might have remained hidden from the public indefinitely.

The giving of a wrong version of a story often brings out the true story, which is regarded as a good and sufficient excuse giving a wrong version at first.

Yale has always been popular among what is termed the common people. In fact it is sometimes spoken of as the poor man's college on account of low tuition fees and the many opportunities offered for students to work their way. Nor does the fact that a student is a waiter in the boarding halls or works at this, that or another thing, seem to lower his standing.

It is a fact worthy of note that these working students often rank very high in their classes. That they should be willing to work their way shows that it is an education they are after and not merely to get the name of having been to college.

The alumni university fund has grown to be a big thing, and it is a mighty good thing. Each class, from '72 to the present, always sends annually a cash gift to the college, the money to be used to meet any necessary expenses.

These gifts aggregate $298,298 22, and at present the principal amounts to $80,899 80, which yields quite a nice sum annually.

On account of the loyalty of the members of the several classes, this fund is not neglected. Those who have prospered well give freely, but all give as they are able. This fund, in a measure, enables the college to get along without raising the price of tuition.

Football and baseball are all right for colleges, provided that they do not get away with the college. Even if Yale did clear $30,000 last year it is possible that it was a poor investment.

Nor does the fact that some of the best students rank high as athletes and ball players prove that these games are helpful to average students.

While these exercises are good for the boys when indulged in moderation there can be no doubt that they are harmful when they become an all-absorbing topic for discussion.

Ball games are not necessarily demoralizing, but when they become crazes, as they are now, they certainly are more or less demoralizing. Their proper use is beneficial, while their abuse is harmful.

But what are you going to do about it?

Parents and children alike are ever wanting to know what the score is. How then are we to change the tastes of boys when they go to college?

There is the point.

Boys are sent to college to be disciplined as well as to be taught the various branches of learning; also to have their faults, physical, moral and intellectual eliminated. It doesn't sound very well for colleges to say they can't control their students.

Speaking of side issues running away with schools recalls the story of the Pittsburgh Thespian society and the Western university.

Away back in the '40s, as the story goes, the Thespian society was running the theater which stood on the present site of the Dollar Savings bank. Among the members of this company were the Shalers, Parks, McClintocks, and others, who became famous in law, medicine and business.

Many of the Thespians were also students in the university, and not a few of them took more interest in studying plays and preparing themselves for appearing on the boards than they did in studying their lesson and preparing for examinations.

The faculty complained to the parents of the pupils, but without much success. Finally the faculty and parents decided that either the university or Thespian society would have to go out of business, and it was decided that the university would stay, and the Thespians disbanded never to be reorganized.

Should it ever become a question as to which must go, the college or athletics, it is easy to guess which would remain. At present it is the proper thing for parents, and the friends of education generally, to take these things into serious consideration, for really they are serious matters.

CURIOUS FACTS.

A Unique Belfry.

St. Peter's church, Tacoma, while by no means the oldest church in the land, claims the distinction of having the oldest bell tower in America, and one of the most unique. This quaint little chapel was built a little more than a quarter of a century ago. The idea was conceived of utilizing the huge stump by its side as a tower and belfry. The top was sawed off and a bell and cross placed upon it, which can now scarcely be discerned for the profusion of ivy covering it. This tower is the remains of one of the giant firs which formerly dotted the hills skirting Commencement bay, upon whose shores Tacoma is built. It is about 50 feet high and some 30 feet in circumference. The tree is estimated to have been 700 years old. About 15 years ago English ivy was planted at its base, and in a few years the unsightly stump was transformed into the tower of beauty which now adorns the quaint little house of worship. The ivy, creeping around the eaves, soon found its way within the sanctuary, and has festooned itself in nature's own artistic way around the rafters. Ivy and plants never freeze in this ideal climate, and the natural decorations of this crude little chapel are fresh and green, even in midwinter. Services are held here each Sunday.—World Today.

Marvels of the Watch.

If we open an ordinary gentleman's Geneva horizontal watch we can see the balance about five-eighths of an inch in diameter, which gives a three-quarters' turn at every tick of the watch, so that the little pin seen in the balance travels at every tick of the watch about one and a half inches; and as a watch of that description has to make 18,000 vibrations in an hour, the little pin has to make a journey of about 19 miles every 24 hours. Now, well-made watches are generally expected to go for two years, so the little pin in the balance would have made the long journey of 7,300 (English) miles. The balance in a lever watch makes generally one and a half turns at every tick, and therefore travels double the distance—viz. 14,600 miles. To be able to accomplish this all materials must be of the best and hardest; the oil also must be of the best, and so fine and fluid that one drop will suffice to oil 200 pivots (or bearings), and keep good to the watch for at least two years. Equally astonishing are the means by which a watch is regulated. This is done by lengthening or shortening the fine spiral spring, generally known as the hairspring. If a watch should be half a minute slow a day the hairspring is the 14,600th part of a second too long. Should a watch be only a minute a week too slow it would then be the 98,000th part of a second too long. All that is expected of the user of a watch is that it is regularly wound up and be not too carelessly treated. Everything also has to be left to the mechanism of the watch and to the clever skill of the watchmaker.—Pearson's Weekly.

Horse Flesh in Berlin.

There is in the Greiswalderstrasse, Berlin, a regularly installed horse slaughterhouse, which is under careful police supervision, with a veterinary surgeon in attendance to see that no animal is killed the flesh of which would be, by reason of disease or other cause, unfit for human food. In 1895 the whole number of horses killed in Berlin for meat was 7,267. In 1900 the number had increased to 10,813 and in 1904 to about 13,000. Estimating that an average-sized horse will yield 220 pounds of edible flesh, there was derived from this source last year about 3,000,000 pounds of meat, which was sold for consumption in 64 shops which are specially licensed for that purpose.—Consular Reports.

Strokes Required for a Shave.

"I should say it took about 300 strokes of the razor to shave a man," a barber said, in answer to a Louisville Courier-Journal reporter.

"You are wrong," said the man. "To shave me, going over my face twice, won't take 250 strokes."

"How do you know?" asked the barber.

"For years," said the other, "I have had the habit of counting the strokes of the razor while being shaved. It is a silly habit, yet I can't get rid of it. You and I will count your strokes together now."

The shaving proceeded in silence.

"Done," said the barber at the end. "I make it 210."

"That is right, 210," the patron agreed. "It always runs thereabouts. Once I got a good shave in 195 strokes. Once I got a bad one in 240. The average is about 210."

Antiquity of Punch and Judy.

Punch and Judy date back to about 100 years before Christ. When the emperor Mu of the Chou dynasty was making a tour through the empire a skilled mechanic named Yen Shih was brought into his presence to entertain him and the ladies of his court. Yen Shih had some automatic figures which not only were capable of dancing, but of accompanying their movements with song. During the performance the puppets cast such significant glances toward the ladies that the emperor became angry and ordered the execution of the originator of the play. The mechanic ripped open the puppets and proved to his astonished majesty that they were artificial. Instead of being executed, Yen Shih was allowed to repeat the performance, which corresponds to Punch and Judy in England and America.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Wood Shavings for Hats.

It is not generally known that many of the handsomest summer hats worn by the ladies of this country are literally made from wood "shavings," says the Scientific American. The finest examples of this industry are produced in Japan, these wooden ribbons appearing in many forms, some of which have almost the delicacy and sheen of satin, while others resemble soft and dainty crepes. The exports in a single year from Japan have amounted to more than $820,000, the United States being a large buyer. While willow is considerably used in Germany, the Japanese manufacturers employ European poplar, spruce, Chinese cypress, cherry, hickory, paulownia, false hickory and some other kinds of wood. The chip is produced by planing with special tools, the shavings being about 15 inches long and 1½ in width. The leading forms are known as crepe, crimped crepe, network crepe, relief figures, pushed, undulated, etc. The product takes dyes readily, and is so talu and flexible that daintiest effects in millinery goods can be secured.

Relics of John Paul Jones.

There are but three articles in the National museum which serve as relics of John Paul Jones, the great naval hero of revolutionary times, whose remains were recently unearthed in Paris by Ambassador Porter. The three articles which constitute the museum's sole memento of the great naval hero are found in a case containing mementos of the revolutionary war, and they consist of an old flag which flew at the masthead of the Bon Homme Richard, an old flintlock musket and a fierce looking cutlass, both of which were captured from the Serapis when Capt. Jones took that battleship in the famous naval engagement in September, 1779.—Washington Star.

FOOT RACE OFF; PEACE REIGNS

City Authorities and Chamber of Commerce Work in Harmony for Greater Pittsburgh.

ATTORNEYS TO JOIN FORCES

Instead of running a race against each other to see who will get into court first with its petition for an election on annexation, the chamber of commerce and the Pittsburgh authorities are working in unison for the Greater Pittsburgh. By an agreement the city solicitors and an attorney for the chamber of commerce are preparing briefs which will be presented to the supreme court in answer to the application of three Alleghenians for an injunction restraining the local court from ordering an election.

In addition to this A. Leo Weil, attorney for the chamber of commerce, will join City Solicitor Rodgers and Assistant City Solicitor Carnahan in making arguments before the supreme court on next Wednesday.

Another important development yesterday in the Greater Pittsburgh situation was the starting of a petition in Allegheny for signatures in favor of an election. A large number of business men and taxpayers of Allegheny have signified their desire to sign such a petition, and it will be filed in court to reinforce the petition which has been completed in Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburgh petition, it was announced yesterday, will be presented to the county court at once, action being deferred until the supreme court hands down its decision in the pending case. The following statement was authorized yesterday by H. D. W. English, chairman of the municipal affairs committee of the chamber of commerce, which has charge of the petitions in the two cities:

We intend to present these petitions as soon as possible and then to wait upon the decision of the supreme court. We desire to get the names of a number of registered voters of the city of Allegheny to show that there is a large and influential element favoring annexation in that city and petitions were sent out yesterday morning for signatures.

We have arranged with the attorneys for the city, Messrs. Rodgers and Carnahan, to have our attorney, A. Leo Weil, file a brief and assist in the argument of the case at Philadelphia. Messrs. Rodgers and Carnahan finally agreed with us that there could be no impropriety in this proceeding, and no possible reflection on the law department of the city, and that our attorney would be in position, as representing a non-partisan and influential organization like the chamber of commerce, to bring to the attention of the court matters that would be perhaps outside of the province of the city attorneys. Our attorney and the city attorneys are working together with the utmost harmony and good feeling.

NEW CASTLE DREAMER PARDONS LEROY LOVE

Releases Him from the Allegheny Workhouse and Sends Him West to Begin Life Anew.

While Leroy Love slumbers in a cell at Claremont, romancers in New Castle are weaving stories of his release from prison and sending him west to begin life anew.

The New Castle dreamer will have a rather rude awakening when he reads the cold facts as telegraphed The Gazette last night by its Harrisburg correspondent:

"Love has not only not been pardoned, but his case has never been before the pardon board."

This is the New Castle dispatch:

Leroy Love of New Castle, who was a few weeks ago sentenced at Pittsburgh to one year in the workhouse on a charge of stealing $5,600 from the Adams Express Company, has been pardoned, according to word just received here. Love's brother states that he will go west and begin life anew. Love was the Adams Express Company messenger between this city and Pittsburgh and in January a $5,600 package, consigned from the United States treasury department to a local bank, was missed. He denied the theft at first, but later confessed, restoring all but $00 of the money.

M'STAY IS SUSPENDED.

Inspector of the South Side Police District Is Laid Off by Director Moore.

Police Inspector Bernard McStay of the South Side district yesterday was suspended by Director Moore for alleged violation of duty. Lieutenant Thomas B. Werner was made acting inspector of the district. McStay will be arraigned before the police trial board for a hearing Wednesday. The suspension of McStay was received with surprise and regret by his brother officers, as he was considered one of the hard-working officials in the police bureau.

Director Moore was never favorable toward McStay, the latter's friends claim. The suspended officer was made inspector of the First district when the present administration went into office. When former Superintendent of Police McTighe was removed McStay was given charge of the police bureau. McStay is one of the strong political workers of the Fifth ward and it is said he differed with the political bosses. This led to him being transferred to the South Side. He has filled the positions of patrolman, lieutenant, captain, city detective and inspector.

POLICE LEARN OF MISSING INSURANCE COLLECTOR

The police have been asked to find John L. Grimm of 7615 Hamilton avenue, East End, who disappeared Wednesday, and has not been heard of since. Grimm is a retired merchant, formerly of Beaver Falls. Two years ago he came to this city and secured a position as collector for a life insurance company. Wednesday he left home, and the last seen of him was at Rankin. He is 54 years old, weighs 150 pounds, is 5 feet 9 inches tall and has black hair, mustache and beard. His wife and children are much alarmed over his disappearance.

Central District and Printing Telegraph Company.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 4, 1905.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors, held today, the President announced the death of Charles E. Speer, Esq., who had been a member of the Board since February 11, 1897, and the following minute was adopted:

Our sorrow on this occasion is tempered by the pleasure of recalling our personal relations with Mr. Speer as a member of this Board, and our social relations with him as a man.

No citizen of Pittsburgh enjoyed a higher reputation for ability and uprightness, and this reputation was founded upon a course of life that fulfilled every requirement of moral and statute law. His character was embellished by the illumination of a pure mind and kindly heart, which shed radiance over a wide circle of friends and business associates.

The loss to his family, which is irreparable, and to this Board, which will be difficult to repair, is nevertheless softened by the rich heritage of good deeds which strewed his pathway through life, and which contributed to the welfare of humanity.

We extend to his family our sincere condolence, and as a permanent mark of respect it is ordered that this testimony to his high worth be spread upon the minutes of this Company.

For the Board of Directors,
JOHN G. STOAKES, Sec'y.

FUND SHORT FOR ENTERTAINMENT

More Than $5,000 Is Required by City for Reception of Congressmen.

FINAL MEETING OF COMMITTEE

The $5,000 fund appropriated by councils will probably not be large enough to meet the expenses connected with the entertainment of the members of the congressional committee on rivers and harbors who will be the guests of the city on Monday and Tuesday. The matter was discussed at a meeting of the entertainment committee of councils last night.

Chairman Wainwright and other members expressed the opinion that an additional appropriation of about $500 would be necessary. The expenses will be heavy. The banquet to be given at the Hotel Schenley on Tuesday night will alone cost $3,850. Besides this there will be a printing bill of $700, the expense of hiring a steamboat for the excursion on Tuesday, 10 boxes at the Nixon theater on Monday night, the cost of carriages for the theater party and to drive the ladies of the visiting party through the parks on Tuesday, automobiles to take the congressmen to the boat on Tuesday, and many other items.

The resolution appropriating $5,000, which was adopted by councils before the arrangements began, is recognized as defective and when a substitute bill is passed by the councils the amount for the entertainment of the congressmen will probably be increased.

Few Invitations Declined.

The council committee held its last meeting last night and final reports were received from the various sub-committees. Comparatively few declinations to invitations for the banquet were received and the guests will not be much below 375, the number of plates engaged. A slight change was made in the schedule for the boat excursion on Tuesday. Instead of the congressmen taking the government boat Loma, at the Monongahela wharf, they will be driven in automobiles from the Hotel Schenley over the Beechwood boulevard to the Brilliant pumping station, where they will take the boat.

This change was made because Chairman Burton, of the rivers and harbors committee, will not arrive in the city until Tuesday morning about 9 o'clock and by taking him and the other members of the committee direct from the hotel to Brilliant, the time consumed in making the trip by boat up the Allegheny river will be saved. After inspecting the government dam in process of construction at Brilliant, the congressmen will continue down the Allegheny river, inspecting the other government work along the way and will reach the Monongahela wharf between 10:30 and 11 o'clock, where the larger boat, the Island Queen, will be taken for the trip up the Monongahela river.

Excursions by Rail and Boat.

Two hundred persons have been provided for on the Island Queen, the Loma being large enough to accommodate only about 25 persons. It is the intention to take the Island Queen up the Monongahela as far as McKeesport, and to return to Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock in the evening. Luncheon and refreshments will be served on the boat.

The railroad excursion on Monday will be devoted to inspecting three of the principal lines of industry of Pittsburgh—glass, electrics and steel. A special train of three coaches will take a party of 60 from Union station at 10 o'clock Monday morning over the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad to Charleroi, where the plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will be visited. An hour will be spent there, leaving at 12 o'clock. Thence the train will go to the Westinghouse plant in East Pittsburgh, where luncheon will be served from 1:15 o'clock to 2 o'clock. An hour will be consumed in sight-seeing at the Westinghouse works and at 3 o'clock the trip will be continued to Homestead to visit the Carnegie steel plant. It is expected to leave Homestead at 4:30 o'clock and to arrive in Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock.

Regular semi-monthly meetings of councils are scheduled for Monday, but it is altogether improbable that there will be a quorum of either branch because of the visit of the rivers and harbors committee. President Wightman of select council said last night he had no authority to postpone a meeting, but said he did not expect the members to attend on Monday.

GRANTS NEW LICENSES.

Judges Shafer and Kennedy Hand Down Reconsidered List of License Applications.

An order was issued in license court yesterday granting some new licenses and reducing penalties previously imposed. Patrick Dawson, 3829 Penn avenue, refused when the list was handed down, was granted. William Lamb, 3237 Penn avenue, had a 20 day's penalty removed. William Foedler, Chartiers avenue, Thirty-ninth ward, refused at first, was granted. Annie E. Hannan, 68 Preble avenue, Allegheny, and George C. Kaufman, of West Liberty avenue, West Liberty borough, both refused at first were granted.

Albert Henrickl, 3321 Penn avenue, refused at first was granted with a 60 day's penalty; Frank Killian, 556-68-70 Homewood avenue, refused at first, was granted with a 60 day's penalty; Daniel A. Malie, 15 South Diamond street, Allegheny, granted at first with a 60 days' penalty, had this reduced to 30 days.

In the wholesale list penalties were reduced as follows: W. J. Boyd, 3952 Second avenue, from 60 days to 30 days; John Costello, 400 Wabash avenue, from 60 days to 30 days; W. J. Ditirick, Coraopolis, from 60 days to 30 days.

A petition was presented yesterday asking for a reconsideratin of the application of T. K. Lysinger who applied for the Farmers Bank restaurant. It was suggested that the court might grant the license with a restriction providing that the entrance to the place should be on Wood street to meet the objections of the First Presbyterian church to the Oliver avenue entrance.

HUMANE SOCIETY ACTS.

Causes Four Arrests on Charges of Cruelty to Animals.

Officers of the Humane society were active yesterday in prosecuting cases of alleged cruelty to animals. Michael Reinhardt and Charles Emich, employed at the branch packing house of Kingman & Co., 1121 Penn avenue, were fined $10 and costs each before Alderman James Reilly on charges of cruelty to calves.

Sol Vester of Van Braam street was fined $10 and costs before Alderman C. F. Oyer on complaint of the society, charging that he drove a horse that was physically unfit to walk. Joseph Benger of 1717 Ann street was also fined $10 and costs before Alderman Oyer on complaint of the society, charging him with keeping two horses in one stall six feet wide, so that neither could lie down.

M'KEESPORT'S MAYOR IS AGAINST THE SPIRITUALISTS

Mayor Falkenstein of McKeesport has issued an edict against the spiritualistic meetings in that city, and has instructed Chief of Police Lewis E. Rotzsch to arrest all persons who hold seances at which an admission is charged as well as those who hold private sessions. A committee composed of citizens affiliated with the spiritualists called on the mayor yesterday and asked that the order be modified. The request was refused, and the crusade will be inaugurated immediately.

Superior Court Judge C. E. Rice is seriously ill in this city and his family has been summoned. Judge Rice and his associates were to have been guests of Judge Ewing and the bar association of Fayette county, yesterday, at a luncheon and automobile ride through Uniontown, but owing to Judge Rice's illness, his associates did not deem it wise to leave the city.

O'CONNELL VS. WALSH.

West End Alderman and Defendant in Disorderly Conduct Case Have Strenuous Meeting.

Alderman William F. Walsh of the West End, together with half the male population of his neighborhood, entertained one John O'Connell at the alderman's home yesterday morning, and as a result O'Connell is in the county jail brooding over the social event.

Mrs. O'Connell, who lives at Arbuckle alley and Lacock street, Allegheny, appeared before the alderman Thursday night and charged her husband with disorderly conduct, stating she feared to return home. The alderman, being gallant and sympathetic, hitched up his horse, drove Mrs. O'Connell home and left instructions that the man of the house do no disturbing.

Early yesterday morning, while still considerably negligee, Alderman Walsh was informed a stranger was awaiting him at the front door on important business. Going down stairs he met O'Connell, who informed the alderman that it would be a source of gratification to him to reconstruct his countenance, and O'Connell is said to have proceeded to carry out his ambition.

During the procedure the alderman was smitten with the same desire as the visitor, and during the melee the alderman gave the West End signal of distress by firing off his revolver. Instantly there was a response by the male population of the neighborhood, including Constable James Grimsley and the firemen of engine house No. 20. The rest was easy. O'Connell was submissively led before the court and committed to jail to await a hearing.

RAISE ROAD'S VALUATION.

Cleveland & Pittsburgh Is Assessed $1,000 More on Main Line in Ten Ohio Counties.

CLEVELAND, May 5.—(Special.)—The auditors of ten counties through which runs the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railway, met with Auditor Wright today and voted to increase the valuation of the main line $1,000 a mile and rolling stock $850. The personal property valued on was fixed at $860 a mile, an increase of $8 a mile over the return of the company. All sidings connected with the main line are to be assessed at $3,000 a mile, the same as last year. With the increase, the main line valuation will be $21,000 a mile, and the rolling stock $8,750.

Division Superintendent T. B. Hamilton, Cleveland; W. R. McKay, Pittsburgh, assistant real estate agent, and T. M. Livesay, Columbus, general counsel, appeared for the company. They made few remonstrances, and all changes were accepted with little comment.

Falling Slate Hurts Four.

RAMSEY LAUGHS AT HIS "SALOON"

Says He Was Not Planning to Run Bar in Wabash Pittsburgh Station.

FAKE STORY CAUSES DENIAL

Washington, D. C., May 5, 1905.
Gazette, Pittsburgh:

Please correct statement that I had intended to run saloon in Pittsburgh station. Not having retired from railroad business I would not be permitted to engage in saloon business even if I so desired. There has never been any intention of having a bar in the station.

J. RAMSEY, JR.

With the above characteristic half-humorous and frank statement, President Ramsey, of the Wabash, lays bare another canard in connection with the management of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railroad, of which he was president until recently.

The telegram will be a mystery to most Pittsburghers who have not seen the stunning correspondence sold for 30 shekels or so, to eastern papers by a bright light of Pittsburgh journalism who is connected with a correspondence bureau.

In some eastern papers of yesterday morning there appeared a gem concerning the alleged "saloon" in the Wabash-Pittsburgh station. At a distance of 500 miles or so from Wall street, the Pittsburgh correspondent gave a pathetic portrayal of the havoc wrought upon the sensitive nature of George J. Gould by the discovery that he was about to be enmeshed in a plot to sell red liquor to Pittsburghers. The story is a sad one, illustrating how the most trustful can be deceived by their lieutenants. Mr. Gould was not merely offended, but deeply hurt. Worse than that he was "roused to fury," so the long-distance narration says, and with one fell swipe of the capitalistic ax he unhooks the official head of Mr. Ramsey.

From reading the story one might imagine that Mr. Ramsey intended to don the white apron and the suave smile, say "What's yours, gents?" strengthen his fingers pounding the cash register, and develop his biceps by the use of the latest Delsartean mixing-starter. At the very least, he would come around after 11:45 p. m., and tap the cash register to see that the barkeeper had not been "knocking down."

The credit for the abolition of the danger of a "saloon" in the Pittsburgh station, deeply plotted by Mr. Ramsey, is given to Mr. Gould. The word "saloon" was used to great advantage. The fact that there had at no time been any intention of having a bar in the station did not enter the mind of the correspondent, so far as his narration shows. That it was to be merely a sideboard, with liquor sold with meals, as in practically every other important railroad station in the world, did not show up. The Pittsburgh Union station of the Pennsylvania has had such a license from the time of its opening. The Wabash would have been granted such a license in 1904, if the station dining-room had been ready in time, and it was granted a license this year without any trouble, the applicant being E. S. Kennedy.

There is a strong belief that all that has happened to the real purpose of having a license in the Wabash station for serving liquor with meals is its delay for a year or so until the road secures enough passenger traffic to justify the expenditure of about $1,200 on the license fee.

The Ramsey "saloon story" has caused particular amusement among those who know the railroad man best. He is considered by far the greatest temperance "drunk" among American railroad presidents. Ever since he assumed charge of the operations of the Wabash it has been a maxim of the road that the only offense for which a Wabash man could be dismissed from the service summarily, and without a trial, is drunkenness. He is himself a total abstainer.

INSPECTS WABASH TERMINALS

New President of Local Line Sees Future of Great Promise Before Road Here.

President F. A. Delano of the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company, yesterday made an inspection of the three principal terminal plans of the Wabash at Pittsburgh. Accompanied by Vice President J. W. Patterson and a number of the other officials of the road he went over the West Side belt to Clairton. Upon his return he inspected the South Side branch and the proposed Duquesne way line sites.

"The prospect appeals to me as a very promising one," he said last evening. "The South Side line, with its big freight station, is especially hopeful. On the Duquesne way line there are certain legal conditions, already faced by the Pennsylvania, which will have to be settled.

"If the lowest bidder on the contract to build the connection with the Union railroad will go ahead now we shall start at once on that line. The bids for this were taken some time ago. It may be necessary now to take new ones. We wish to start work there as soon as possible. The connection with the Monongahela Connecting railroad of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company will also be taken up, next week."

It is stated that the work on the Greene county line will be taken up at once and that it will be under direction of the engineers who have built the connection between the Western Maryland and the West Virginia Central. The preliminary engineering work on the Greene county road has been completed and a great part of it is ready for the call for bids.

"DELANO" A PUZZLE.

Section Hands Wrestle With the Nationality and Pronunciation of the New Official's Name.

"Mr. Delano was born in China," read Big Jim, the gang foreman, from The Gazette sketch of the life of the new president of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal. The noon hour had found the section hands gathered around the handcar emptying their dinner pails.

"That name sounds like it," said "Fatty" Thomas.

"Chinese?" snorted Big Jim. "Not on your spaghetti! It's Eye-talian-Dago, that's what that name is."

"Ah, it'g tired ye all make me," said Flannigan. "Can't you see through thot name? He's a riltitive of moine. He's a member of the ould Delaney family."

Flannigan won.

The pronunciation of the new Wabash official's name has been discussed by many, the difference of opinion being over the syllable which receives the accent. An official statement shows that the name is pronounced Del-ane, with the accent on the first syllable.

RATIFY ISSUANCE OF $100,000,000 NEW STOCK

No Protests at Union Pacific Meeting, Nor Is Explanation Made of Road's Projects.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SALT LAKE CITY, May 5.—At a special meeting of stockholders of the Union Pacific railroad company today, the proposal to issue $100,000,000 of preferred stock was approved by the unanimous vote of the holders of 657,761 shares of preferred stock and 1,118,917 shares of common stock. The total outstanding is 1,000,000 shares preferred and 1,981,787 shares of common.

Judge W. D. Cornish of New York, vice president of the Harriman system, held proxies for all of the stock represented at today's meeting with the exception of 542 shares. Joseph F. Smith, head of the Mormon church and a director of the Union Pacific, voted one share. The remaining 540 shares were voted by two Salt Lake City newspaper men, who held proxies for two stockholders.

No protest against the issue of new preferred stock was heard at the meeting, nor was any explanation offered of the purpose of the proposed issue. One person asked how the proceeds of the new issuance were to be expended. His query was entered on the minutes, but no reply was given. With this exception, there was no reference to the purpose of the management in providing for this fund of $100,000,000.

Typewritten minutes of the meeting had been prepared in advance and were read at the close of the meeting. The entire program of the Harriman interests was carried out without the slightest hitch or protest. Beside Judge Cornish, W. R. Kelly of Omaha, general solicitor of the Union Pacific, was the only eastern representative of the company. All the others present were local representatives of the Union Pacific.

GOMPERS TO VISIT THE AMALGAMATED.

Due to Proposed Sending of Delegate to Industrial Union Convention.

MAYOR HAYS TO BE HONORED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DETROIT, May 5.—The arrival of President Theodore J. Shaffer from Wheeling, is anxiously awaited by the Amalgamated association convention here before getting down to business. He is expected here either tonight or tomorrow morning when the work will once more be taken up.

It is currently reported that President Samuel P. Gompers of the American Federation of Labor will come here during the convention regarding the proposed sending by the association of a delegate to the convention of the industrial union at Chicago. It is said that representatives of the federation from this city are in conference with some of the leaders on the subject.

There is good news for the puddlers of the country in the bi-monthly settlement of the bar iron scale which will be made here next week instead of at Youngstown as is generally the case. The selling price of bar iron will go from 1.4 cents to 1.5 cents, which means an increase from $5 12½ to $5 37½ a ton. The price of finishing will be as follows: Heater, 61 6-10 cents a ton; roller, 45 5-10 cents; catcher, 22 7-10; rougher down, 18 8-10; rougher up, 15 7-10 cents. James H. Nutt of the Republic Iron and Steel Company will come here to make the settlement.

Some heated talk was caused in the convention by the rumor that the Tighe forces had caused the absence of President Shaffer at Wheeling on account of the strike there, when his presence here was necessary if he is a candidate for the presidency. On both sides, the charge of treachery was denied.

The subject which is before the constitution committee for the puddlers to have a separate scale, distinct from the finishers, is receiving a great deal of attention. That and various moves to take it more members from among the skilled men about the mills is engaging the attention of the committee. It is proposed to take in roll runners and others.

An invitation will be sent by the convention for Mayor William B. Hays of Pittsburgh to visit the convention while it is in session.

ARGUE AGAINST NEW RATE LAW

College Professor, Miller and Railroad Official Before Senate Committee.

WOULD BE RUINOUS TO TRADE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.

Today was one of the most interesting sessions of the senate committee on interstate commerce since the hearings on the railroad rate question began. Prof. Hugo R. Meyer of the University of Chicago contributed a very interesting feature of the day's proceedings.

Frank H. Bloodgett of Janesville, Wis., speaking for the millers of the northwest, entered a protest against the Esch-Townsend bill, arguing that it would prove ruinous to the milling interests. An answer to the complaint of the Cattle Raisers' association of Texas against the Santa Fe road was given in a statement by W. R. Biddle, traffic manager of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad.

Prof. Meyer, in the course of his remarks, said:

If the inter-state commerce commission had been created, say in 1870, and had been permitted to enforce its prohibition of lower rates on agricultural products for export than on such products for domestic consumption, the development of the territory west of the Mississippi river would have been retarded by decades. Similarly if the prohibition of discriminating rates in favor of commodities imported on through bills of lading had been enforced since, say 1870, Philadelphia and Baltimore today would be but feeble rivals of New York; Newport News and Galveston would be but little more than names upon the map, and New Orleans with each succeeding year would have come to be known to us as the seat of an interesting winter carnival, the Mardi Gras.

American railway rates are the result of arbitration and warfare; they have been heated and forged and welded and pounded and hammered into their present shape, and they are about as nearly right as practical people can make them. The people of the United States see little of the sectional struggle which federal regulation of rates would engender; the inevitable results would be mileage rates and provincial industries.

In protesting against the passage of the Esch-Townsend bill, Mr. Blodgett said that he came voluntarily to inform the senate committee that he and practically all of the grain millers of Wisconsin opposed the passage of the Esch-Townsend bill, or in fact, of any legislation regarding the regulations of railroad rates on the ground that such legislation would tend to complicate the situation, and would result in widespread disaster to the milling business of the west.

SENATOR FORAKER IS NOT OFFENDED

Will Attend Ohio State Convention Regardless of Formal Invitation.

MALLORY MAKES STATEMENT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.

Another chapter was added to the controversy over the alleged slight that has been offered to Senator Foraker by the state central committee of Ohio, by a statement which he gave out today. The senior senator's latest effort in this line is the announcement that he has not received notice of the state convention, which John R. Mallory, secretary of the state committee, alleges has been sent to Senator Foraker's Cincinnati address.

In giving out his statement, Secretary Mallory not only stated that a notice of the convention had been mailed to Senator Foraker, but that a state committee ought not be expected to send him such notice. Mr. Mallory indulged in a review of the history of the party, citing precedents to show that Senator Foraker might not expect a special invitation to the convention. He insisted that if Senator Foraker has been slighted it has been by Hamilton county in failing to elect him a delegate.

In the same dispatch that contains Mr. Mallory's statement there is an intimation that Senator Foraker is disappointed because he has not been elected permanent chairman of the convention. In replying to these charges and intimations, Senator Foraker said today:

All I have said to any one about the convention was in the nature of a jocular remark, when asked if I was expected to attend, that I had not received any official notice and did not know except from the newspapers when or where the convention was to be held, which is true, for although Mr. Mallory may have sent a notice, as he says, to me at Cincinnati, I have not received it.

I left there before the date when he says he mailed the notice, but whether he mailed it or not is not important. I usually attend the state conventions when my other duties will permit. I have been expecting to attend the state convention this year and will, if I am not detained here by the hearings now in progress before the interstate commerce committee.

But while I have been expecting to attend the convention I have not at any time, through friends or otherwise, given the slightest attention to the question of permanent chairmanship of the convention, nor have I had any thoughts in connection with the convention except only to be present that I might enjoy the proceedings and contribute in whatever way I might find myself able to do so to the success of that occasion and the campaign that is to follow.

Of course, any one reading Mr. Mallory's statement will see from the tone of it that he could not have intended, nor could any one else for whom he speaks, to show me the slightest lack of respect or consideration.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN AGAINST GIFT OF MR. ROCKEFELLER

Committee for Protesting Clergymen Will Mail Literature to Every Congregational Church.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, May 5.—What is described in a circular as "the first gun in our educational campaign" will be "fired" tomorrow by the committee acting for the Congregational ministers of New England who protested against the acceptance of John D. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000 by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

Tomorrow the committee will mail to every Congregational church and every Congregational clergyman in the United States four circulars. One of these is a letter explaining the significance of the movement; another is the statement recently issued by Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., moderator of the national Congregational council; a third is a sermon entitled "The Spirit of Protest," recently delivered by the Rev. Artemas J. Haynes of New Haven, Conn., while the fourth is the work of the protesting committee and bears the caption "The Issue Before the Church."

The members of the committee whose names are appended to the last mentioned circular, say it was prepared "to call attention to the specific moral questions confronting the churches if the principal avowed in accepting this gift from Mr. Rockefeller is to be maintained.

The attorney general says the writ is an appropriate remedy and can be set in motion by the attorney general. The writ, he says, should issue against the corporation and not against the individuals.

The Consolidated stock exchange was accused of doing a fraudulent business and swindling its customers. It was exposed and some of its alleged victims asked that it be proceeded against in the name of the state, for the purpose of dispossessing it of its charter.

Products that are a local success would be a national success.

It would be interesting to know how many manufacturers there are in this country whose goods meet a ready local sale, but who lack the courage to advertise them nationally.

Such men say their goods sell well at home because people know how good they are, but that they fear to embark upon a national campaign.

Human nature and human likes and dislikes are the same in all parts of the country. Goods that please people in Maine will please people in California. The way to make their merits known is to advertise them. Tell people all over the country what your home people know—that your goods are desirable and superior—and tell them why. Then you will have a chance to grow. You will not have to depend on the limited local market.

The Saturday Evening Post is a national magazine of the highest grade. It covers the country thoroughly. It goes regularly into 800,000 homes and is read by 4,000,000 people. Why not secure your share of the trade of this army of intelligent, desirable people? You can get it if you ask for it in the right way.

RECORD IS BROKEN ON ALL ASPHALT PRICES

Blake Company Gets $40,000 in Contracts and Bids Lower for More Work.

The Blake Asphalt Maintenance Company of Cincinnati, said to be an independent company, yesterday secured street repaving contracts amounting in value to about $40,000 in competition with concerns that have been doing the bulk of Pittsburgh's repaving work for years. The Blake company secured the contracts at $1.61 per square yard, its competitors bidding several cents per square yard higher.

This is nearly 40 cents lower per square yard than the asphalt contracts of last year. The bids were taken several weeks ago, but Director Bigelow postponed the award until he made an investigation to learn whether the Blake company could furnish the kind of asphalt required in the specifications.

The Blake company claimed to be able to furnish Alcatraz asphalt and seems to have convinced Director Bigelow on this score, although George H. Flinn of Booth & Flinn claimed that the Alcatraz asphalt beds, which are in lower California, are controlled by the so-called "asphalt trust."

In a previous letting the Blake company reduced the prices and compelled the competitors to go away below its figures of last year to get the contracts. In the second letting the Blake company went still lower and bid as low as $1.61.

Even this was not the bottom mark as shown yesterday when bids were received for a new batch of work, amounting to about $20,000. On this third lot of contracts the Blake company has bid $1.49 per square yard, which is the lowest bid for asphalt work ever received by the city. It is the opinion of city officials that there must be either a very large profit in asphalt paving or else some company is going to be bankrupt before the local competition comes to an end.

GOULD FOR PRESIDENCY.

Reliable Report Says He Will Be Elected to Head the Wabash System in October.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A special from Washington to the Globe today says: George J. Gould will be elected president of the Wabash railroad system when the directors meet next October. He has been anxious to take the most active part in the management of the Wabash property, and the retirement of Joseph Ramsey, Jr., affords the opportunity.

The fact that Mr. Gould will be the next president of the road comes from high authority, close to both Mr. Gould and Mr. Ramsey. His presidency is expected to mark an aggressive policy on the part of the road. Pending Mr. Ramsey's retirement, which will be in October, the present president will be only a nominal executive. Mr. Gould will be the actual manager.

NO EULOGY IS MADE AT BANKER'S FUNERAL

Simplicity Marks the Rites at the Bier of Charles Edward Speer.

A congregation of more than 1,000 persons gathered in the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon to pay a tribute of respect at the bier of the late Charles Edward Speer. It was the first funeral to be conducted in the new church building, a coincidence which was all the more striking when it was recalled that he was largely instrumental in the erection of that house of worship. The utmost simplicity was observed in the services.

Flowers had been omitted, and there was no eulogy. As the black-shrouded casket with its solitary wreath of oak leaves was carried to the altar, the choir sang "My Jesus, As Thou Wilt." The Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, the pastor, opened the services with a prayer and the old familiar hymn, "There Is a Green Hill Far Away," was sung. The pastor, with touching elocutionary effect, recited Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." The congregation retired and the members of the family were left for a brief space with the dead. As the remains were carried from the church the choir sang "There Is a Blessed Home."

The interment was made at the Allegheny cemetery. The services at the grave were brief. The honorary pallbearers were John B. Jackson, George I. Whitney, Albert H. Childs, Thomas Wightman, Henry H. King, Frank B. Nimick, Stephen C. McCandless, F. H. Skelding, David C. Stewart, Charles Donnelly, George M. Laughlin, Sr.; Albert J. Barr, Frank Semple, Lawarson Riggs, J. Denniston Lyon and Samuel Ewart.

Beginning next Monday there will be a change in the route of the Knoxville line of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. This line now reaches the Hill top via Brownsville avenue. On Monday all cars carrying the sign "Knoxville" will run by way of the Mt. Washington tunnel. Cars carrying the sign "Beltzhoover" will run by way of the Brownsville road, as at present.

The change in the Knoxville route will be appreciated by residents of the Hill top, as it will reduce the running time several minutes. Also, commencing Monday, passengers paying cash fares on Mt. Washington, Mt. Lebanon and Knoxville lines north bound will receive transfers to east bound Carson street cars. The Carson street line will issue transfers west bound to these lines. No transfers will be issued or received on Charleroi cars. The 5-cent fare limit on the Charleroi cars will be at Mt. Lebanon junction.

All Carson street cars, which now have their terminus at Thirty-fourth street, will run to Thirty-sixth street.

WELL-KNOWN LOCAL MEN FORM NEW COAL CO.

"Rex Carbon" Will Develop a 3,000-Acre Tract in Brooke County, W. Va.

Plans have been completed by well-known Pittsburghers for an extensive coal development in Brooke county, W. Va., adjoining the Washington county line, between the Wabash and the Panhandle railroads. The company owning the coal is known as the Rex Carbon Coal Company. It has 3,000 acres and is capitalized at $350,000. The stock has all been taken. Its offices are on the ninth floor of the Farmers Bank building.

The president of the company is W. C. Temple, vice president, E. J. Kent; secretary, W. W. Darley, and treasurer, G. E. Turner. W. E. Dickson is general manager.

The tract owned by the company is said to contain the Pittsburgh vein of coal in its greatest purity. Less than 1 per cent of sulphur is shown by the analysis, and the coal runs high in carbon.

The company will be driving entries within 30 days. The first opening will be made on the Wabash, where two double tipples will be built. An output of 4,000 tons daily will be handled here, it is expected. Later a spur about one mile long will be built from the State Line branch of the Panhandle to reach the south end of the tract, and another opening will be made there. The company expects to find a lake and general western market for its product at first, and upon the completion of the eastern line of the Wabash, expects to ship part of its product to the seaboard.

DISGRACES THE ACADEMY.

Graduate Owen of Annapolis Beats Hotel—He Is Grandson of Late Rear Admiral Queen.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(Special.)—Alfred C. Owen, a graduate of Annapolis, who left the naval service in 1902, was found guilty in the court of special sessions today of defrauding the Hotel Buckingham out of $35, his bill there. Upon his statement that his relatives would settle the bill if they were communicated with, the justices remanded him until Monday and put his case in the hands of Probation Officer Graveur for investigation.

Owen was arrested in the Fifth Avenue hotel last summer, charged with passing a check signed with the name of Stephen B. Elkins, Jr., son of Senator Elkins. Owen is a grandson of the late Rear Admiral Queen, who served with distinction in the Mexican and Civil wars.

Kaiser Enlists a Tall Moor.

BERLIN, May 6.—Emperor William saw a very tall Moor while ashore at Tangier, talked to him and arranged that the man should join his majesty's company of tall men of the First Guard regiment. The Moor has now been assigned to carry the regimental standard. He stands exactly 6 feet 10 7-10 inches high and otherwise is of large proportions.

WOMAN TELLS STORY OF ATTEMPTED MURDER

Braddock Police Learn of Crime from One Who Says She Was Victim.

Mrs. William Hart of Penn station, Westmoreland county, has written to Chief of Police William Bennett of Braddock, that she was attacked at the Pennsylvania depot there by two ruffians, last Tuesday night about midnight, and dragged down the track with the evident intention of murder. She says she was rescued by two strangers at the depot, who carried her back to the station and placed her aboard her train.

Mrs. Hart writes that she was at the office of Justice of the Peace J. Clyde Miller, in Homestead. She left there at 10:30 o'clock for Braddock to take the midnight train for her home. As she was ascending the steps from Library street, she was attacked. She drew a revolver, but it was knocked from her hand.

Mrs. Hart thinks the men intended to throw her in front of the Greensburg express. Her screams attracted help and she fainted during the rescue. She has offered a reward of $100 for the arrest of the men and $10 for the return of the revolver which was a gift from her husband and inscribed with her name. She says the attack was prompted by motives of revenge, but does not explain further.

It is thought that there is something back of the story which Mrs. Hart does not tell. The fact that she was armed and had just come from the office of a justice, coupled with her intimation regarding revenge, make the police eager to know the rest of the story. Nothing was heard of the affair until Mrs. Hart's letter was received.

HAWKINS BEFORE MOKE.

Friendly Suit to Test Automobile Ordinance Has Been Started.

Dr. J. A. Hawkins, against whom proceedings are instituted by the city in a test case of the ordinance imposing a vehicle license on automobiles, when the state also exacts a license fee, was arrested last night by Chief Ordinance Officer Livingstone and will have a hearing this morning, at 11 o'clock, before Magistrate Moke.

Acting under the advice of City Solicitor Rodgers Magistrate Moke will fine Dr. Hawkins for non-payment of the license and the case will be taken to the higher courts by Attorney James Francis Burke, acting for the Automobile club.

The proceeding is a friendly one. The warrant was served while Dr. Hawkins was giving Mr. Livingstone a spin through the park. Of course everything was amicably prearranged.

Kruger Removed to Jail.

Paul Kruger, the convict who stabbed Charles Turner, a fellow convict, to death in the Western Penitentiary, was yesterday removed from that institution, where he had been kept in solitary confinement, to the Allegheny county jail, where he will await trial on a charge of murder. The grand jury which meets Monday will consider his case.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies: those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers: those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., and in order to buy the genuine article and to get its beneficial effects, one has only to note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package. Price, 50c. per bottle. One size only.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW KENSINGTON, PA., May 5.—(Special.)—Joseph B. Heister, member of the legislature and one of the leading Republican politicians in Westmoreland county, is dead at his home here from pneumonia and pleurisy. Mr. Heister became ill before the adjournment of the legislature, and his physician advised him not to attend the last sessions, but he insisted upon going to Harrisburg. He returned in a serious condition.

Mr. Heister was 47 years old and had lived here for almost 15 years, having come when the town was founded. He was born in Bowerstown, Carroll county, O. In 1869 he removed with his parents to Mansfield valley, Allegheny county, and was educated in the common schools there. In 1903 he was appointed postmaster at New Kensington by President Theodore Roosevelt, but after serving five months, resigned. He served as a member of the borough council and three years ago was elected to the legislature. Last fall he was re-elected by a large majority, and he was urged to be a candidate for another term.

In private life Mr. Heister was a successful building contractor and erected some of the finest buildings in this section. He is survived by his widow, one daughter and three sons. The funeral services will be held here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Speaker Walton will appoint a committee of assemblymen to attend the obsequies.

Joke May Have Caused Death.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 5.—(Special.) What began as a joke is believed to have caused the death of George Boere, whose dead body was found near the dynamo room in the yard of the local plant of the National Tube Company, last Monday night. It is claimed by the man's friends that some persons had fixed up a wire connection with the electrical apparatus, just for the fun of shocking persons who work in the plant and look through the window near which the man lay to see the clock. A score of the men have been shocked and their arms burned.

FORMER PITTSBURGH MINISTER A CANDIDATE

Rev. S. R. Frazier, D. D., Alarms Politicians by Announcing Candidacy for Ohio Legislature.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 4.—The Rev. S. R. Frazier, D. D., pastor of the Tabernacle United Presbyterian church, who formerly occupied the pulpit of the Third United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, is a candidate for state representative from Mahoning county. He has issued a statement saying in part:

"I am a preacher in politics, and I know of nothing in the constitution of the country or of the state, nothing in the law of God or man that forbids, or in any sense curtails the right of any man, regardless of his profession or vocation, to seek to fulfill what he feels to be his privilege and duty as a free American citizen. If there is nothing to hide in the politics of Mahoning county there ought to be no fear of the preacher or any other man, either as officeholder or private citizen."

The candidacy of the Rev. Dr. Frazier has alarmed the politicians somewhat, as he is well known and stands high with the people of the county.

MAN IS KILED IN QUARREL OVER CHICKENS

Farmer Shoots Another in Butler County. Previous Trouble Over an Oil Lease.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, May 5.—John N. McLaughlin shot and almost instantly killed William J. Hemphill at about 10 o'clock this morning, on the Pittsburgh road two miles south of Saxonburg. McLaughlin came here and surrendered to the sheriff this afternoon. He said he found two of Hemphill's chickens in his field, and shot them. Hemphill, whose house is on the opposite side of the road, saw him do so and picking up a piece of board, jumped over the fence and started toward McLaughlin. The latter warned him to stop, but Hemphill came on and when the men were but a few steps apart, McLaughlin fired a load from a shotgun into Hemphill's abdomen, almost disemboweling him.

Mrs. Hemphill is reported to have been standing in the doorway and saw her husband killed. Two painters who were at work on Hemphill's house also witnessed the tragedy. They ran to the dying man and carried him to his home. McLaughlin went back to his own house changed his clothes, and went to Saxon station, where he took a train here. Passing through Saxonburg he told John E. Muder, who telephoned to the authorities here. McLaughlin was met at the station by Sheriff Gibson, who is a cousin and County Detective Rainey Hoon, who took him into custody. He was committed to jail pending an investigation by Coroner T. J. Dodds, who started for Saxonburg immediately.

Several weeks ago the Overheim Oil Company of which Hemphill was a director, brought a bill in equity against McLaughlin and obtained an injunction against him restraining him from interfering with the oil company entering and drilling on his farm, which he had leased to another party. Part of the evidence in the case was that McLaughlin had stood around with a shotgun and dared the company's employes to come on his place. Last week Hemphill had McLaughlin arrested for shooting his chickens.

JIMMY BRITT IS STILL CHAMPION

Knocks Out Jabez White in Final Round of the Battle. Fight Is Fast.

ENGLISHMAN BADLY PUNISHED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—Jimmy Britt is the world's champion, having won the title by knocking out Jabez White in the 20th round. The fight was fast with Britt as the aggressor all the way. White is a clever ring general, but his blows lacked punishing power. The fight by rounds:

ROUND 1—White blocked Britt's left lead for the stomach. Britt's left went over White's head. White jabbed his left to Britt's mouth. Britt's left for the wind was short. White caught a left swing in the elbow and put a straight left on Britt's neck. White missed a straight left. Britt's left swing was short. Both exchanged lefts on the body and White landed a solid straight right to the face. Britt landed a right on the body, but White was going away at the time and it didn't hurt. Britt sent a straight left to the face as the bell rang.

ROUND 2—White blocked two left leads and the men clinched. Britt swung his left to the neck. The Britisher put his left on the wind and then they clinched and broke clean. Britt sent a hard right to the wind. White put a good left on Britt's mouth. Britt landed a hard left on the face. White cleverly blocked a left lead. White put a good right on the face and a solid left on the wind. Britt's left went over White's head. The Briton is a good ring general and he knows the game. Britt was short with two lefts for the face. The Britisher ducked into a hard left uppercut. They exchanged lefts on the body and were sparring at the bell. Britt was the aggressor so far, but White's work was more than fair.

ROUND 3—Britt hooked a left to the mouth. White sent a right to the ribs and blocked a left and a right lead. Britt rushed and swung his left for the wind. White blocked it and got away from a hard left swing. White then sent a hard straight left to the mouth. Britt was making the fight, but the Britisher blocked well. Britt sent a hard left to the wind. The Briton sent two straight lefts to the mouth. The native son swung a left to the jaw. White sent a hard right to the cheek, rocking Britt's head. White jabbed Britt's face with his left twice and sent another right to the ear. Britt was a little wild and White was blocking cleverly. This was White's round by a good margin.

ROUND 4—Britt tried a left swing, but White blocked it and landed a left on Britt's mouth. Britt landed a stiff left on the face. Britt rushed with swings on White's glove. Britt missed a straight left. Britt's arms were working very fast. Britt landed a hard left on the jaw. White jumped away from a left swing and got inside of another of the same. Britt landed both hands on the body. Clinch. Britt put a light left on the cheek and missed a hard left swing. White put his left on the wind. White swung his left to the cheek and sent a good right across Britt's cheek as the bell rang.

ROUND 5—White ducked into a stiff left uppercut, then blocked Britt's swing for the body. White feinted Britt out of position and then sent a straight right to the cheek. Britt made a rush and kept the Britisher very busy blocking for a moment. Both exchanged lefts on the body. White sent a right to the cheek. Britt swung his right to White's temple. White jabbed his left to the mouth and danced away from a left swing. Britt landed a right on the cheek. Britt landed two hard rights on the jaw, making White clinch. White was very cool and, though Britt made it very warm for him, he kept his head. This was all Britt's round.

The Crowd is With White.

ROUND 6—Britt started rushing and landed a left on the neck. White missed a savage right for the jaw, but jabbed a light left to the face. The Briton sent a good left to the mouth and backed away from a hard left swing. Britt's right grazed White's cheek. Britt put a left on the wind and a right on the cheek. White jabbed a left to the mouth. Britt sent a straight left to the face. White put a solid swing on the neck. White hooked a right to the cheek. They worked close together. White put a straight right on the cheek. White ducked a left swing and put his left on the stomach and right on the face as the bell rang. White had the house with him. He may not win, but he is making a better showing than was anticipated.

ROUND 7—The crowd was shouting: "White! White!" White blocked Britt's body blows and clinched. White was there with straight lefts and stopped Britt's left swing for the head. White put in a short right on the jaw and ducked in a wonderful fashion when Britt rushed and began to swing on him. White was short with his right uppercut and the Briton swung his right to the neck. White smashed his right on the ribs and Jim pressed in. White scored with two straight lefts and Jimmy worked his favorite body punch, landing the left solidly. Britt made the pace for half a minute, White blocking his blows and trying occasionally with his right for the jaw. Britt caught him heavily with a right hander in the stomach. White bent down and backed away. He was hurt. Britt crowded him and got in lefts and right on the jaw. Britt's round.

Britt's Blows the More Punishing.

ROUND 8—White put in a straight left and clinched. They traded rights for the body. Britt's being the harder punch. Britt got in two more rights on the stomach—heavy punches. They mixed it fiercely. Britt smashed at the body and the Briton tried to down Jimmy with his right across on the jaw. Britt scored the stronger of the two. White scored several right crosses and straight lefts but they seemed to have no sting. Britt nailed him again with hard rights on the stomach and ribs and the Briton bent down and clinched. White backed to the ropes and indulged in some wonderful ducking. Then White struck Britt three times on the chin with his right, but Britt only grinned toward those in his corner. Britt's round.

ROUND 9—Britt tore loose with body blows, White clinching. The Briton poked in a straight left on the stomach. Then he began using his right cross again. He reached Jim's jaw several times and in the meantime was well peppered around the ribs and sides. Britt threw in a full-forced body blow with his left, catching the Briton across the ribs. Then Jimmy accepted Jabez's straight lefts and short rights for the sake of putting in his particular body punch. He caught White twice and the sound of the punches could be heard far back in the gallery. The Britisher dipped under a left sweep for the jaw and caught a body punch on his forearm. Britt's round.

White's Blows Seem Very Weak.

ROUND 10—Jabez jabbed with a straight left and ducked under a return and clinched. Jimmy seemed to have no fear of White's punches now. He waited for the straight lefts and smashed at the ribs with both hands. White caught him one right cross which with a fair amount of force should have felled Britt. Britt scarcely noticed it. White used a straight left and cut a niche over Britt's eye with a right jolt. Britt threw a hard left into the stomach and then swung heavily on the face with his right. They had a mixup, during which each reached the face with rights. It was an even round.

ROUND 11—Britt rushed and Jabez clinched. White was there with left jabs. He protected his ribs when Britt tried with both hands. Britt took to swinging his left for the face and scored twice in succession. White got to him with a straight left and a right-hander, which opened the gash over the eye. Britt threw a left hard on the stomach. White stood to his guards and they exchanged punches, both landing on the face. Jabez used his right on the ribs and also placed it on Jimmy's jaw. Britt used left swings to the stomach and mouth. White's lips were covered with blood. Round even.

Englishman Scores First Knockdown.

ROUND 12—They worked into a half clinch during which Jimmy jolted a right on the jaw. White brought Jimmy down near the ropes with a right hander on the chin. Jimmy rolled in on his hips and jumped to his feet quickly. He looked surprised, but he was not much hurt. Britt went in and White clinched and smothered the onslaught. White tapped Jim swiftly on the chin with a right and clinched again. They broke and Britt threw punishing lefts into the body. Britt was the aggressor for the balance of the round. Round slightly in White's favor.

ROUND 13—Britt rushed, letting fly with both hands, and White did some clever dodging. Then White brought his right around on the jaw. Britt scored with his left on the body. White used his right for the face, reaching the chin twice. Each tried with right, but the blows were glancing ones. White rammed in a hard one on the ribs with his right and took a swift left on the body in return. There was a rally in which White kept shooting rights on the jaw, while Britt rammed away at the Englishman's ribs. Britt did the cleaner and more forceful work and gained a lead in this round.

White Shows Signs of Distress.

ROUND 14—Britt made the pace, as usual, and got the better of a mixup in mid-ring, placing hard lefts and rights on the sides of the Britisher's head. White tried to jar Britt with a right-hand body punch. He scored with it several times, but did no damage. Britt was very strong in this round. He made the Briton's head wag with his left and right swings. From the looks of White's face he was distressed by the fierce battering he received around the midsection. He kept bringing his right across in a faultless manner, connecting with Britt's chin, but the blow lacked punishing power. Britt's round.

ROUND 15—Britt reached the face with a straight left and then made Jabez's head rock again with left and right. White was short with his left and made a full-sweep right swing for the jaw. He was a full inch short. White was willing but apparently weak. Britt, on advice from his corner, tried double leads with the lefts, hitting short the first time and letting go his full reach on the second occasion. By this time he put in several telling smashes on the Englishman's face.

ROUND 16—Britt was the aggressor. White going on the defensive. White protected his body from assault during many rushes on Britt's part. White used a straight left at times and also snapped the right across on the chin. He scored cleanly but without effect, and from the way he covered when Britt rushed it was easy to be seen his rib region was very tender. The round was devoid of execution on account of White's cleverness in blocking.

ROUND 17—Britt kept after him like a bull terrier. In a mixup Britt smashed White savagely in the ribs with lefts. White complained of being struck low, but Referee Smith said to fight on. Britt swung his left on the face and the Briton came back with right on the ribs and right on the ear. Britt crowded him back to the ropes, putting in swinging lefts on the face. It looked is if White would have fallen if he had not clasped Britt about the shoulders. White was well battered in the last few seconds of the round. Britt's round.

ROUND 18—Britt bore down on him and White clinched again. White snapped his right across on the chin, but without force. Britt pressed in with his left and right on the head. Some of the blows were blocked and others landed. Britt threw one of his hard lefts into the stomach. White stood straight up and smashed Britt twice on the jaw with right crosses. Britt was now reaching White's face with lefts as White tried to duck. White's mouth was puffed from these punches. Britt's round.

ROUND 19—Britt made one of his sweeping rushes. White ducked and clinched. White sent in his favorite right on the chin, and Britt nailed him on the face with both gloves. White blocked some of Jim's well-heard body punches. Britt's seconds shouted to him not to mind White's swings for the head. He took a straight left on the mouth and drove in a hard right under the heart. After that he swung a wicked left on the chin. After that he rushed White to the ropes with a right uppercut and left swing. White let go a right swing in a mixup, but missed the mark. Britt's round.

ROUND 20—They shook hands. Britt began rushing and the Briton fought back. White trying to land a right cross. Britt was flogging away at the ribs and the face. Britt caught him on the face with left uppercut. Jabez put in a straight left. They mixed it, standing breast to breast. Britt's blows were the harder. White cringed from a body punch. Britt got him on both sides of the head. White hung on. Britt put in left and right on the body and a right uppercut. Britt brought White down with a right-hand smash on the chin. White stood up and was helpless. Britt gave him several right-handers. White's arms dropped and he tottered around. He was thoroughly unable to protect himself and Referee Smith jumped between and pushed Britt away. Referee Smith said:

"I stopped it because White was all out and helpless. He is a good, game fellow and there was no use allowing him to be butchered. Britt won with a knockout, in my opinion. The finish came when the round was just 39 seconds from the end."

PIRATES TAKE OPENING GAME

Reds Make the Finish Exciting, but Fail to Secure Runs Enough to Do Any Harm.

SCHOOLMASTER IN FINE FORM

The Cincinnati Reds made their first appearance of the season over at Exposition park yesterday afternoon and 3,000 lovers of the game watched Joe Kelley's pets go to a 4 to 2 defeat, mainly through the efforts of Sam Leever, who was on the rubber for the Pirates and pitched his best game of the season. The Reds made the finish a bit exciting, but Leever had them at a point where there was not much danger and so got away with the game.

Jack Harper, the Oil City boy, was the visitors' pitcher, and he showed fine skill in all but one inning, the fourth, when Clarke's crew got onto the hang of his curves, and aided by some bad playing on the part of the Reds, scored three of their four runs. In doing this the visitors claimed that "Heinie" Peitz had pulled off a trick at their expense in giving the ball the foot, thus allowing it to get past First Baseman Dolan. The Reds made a vigorous protest and the umpires held a consultation, but the protest was not allowed.

The real truth of the matter was that the visitors were trying to cover up a pinheaded play made by one of their own number, Cy Seymour. The Reds' middle fielder secured the ball after Peitz had made a single and instead of throwing it to second base as he should have done in order to hold a runner, he heaved it to first and the throw being wild, the runner scored. This was not the only place where the visitors played bad ball, as the Pirates' run in the eighth was due to the poor work of Capt. Tommy Corcoran, who not only missed Huggins' assist to catch Wagner at second but he also made a wild throw which allowed the Pirate shortstop to reach third.

Harper was out to get revenge for a defeat administered to him in the opening game at Cincinnati and he pitched in his best manner, but it was no use. Leever, on the other hand, was in his best form and the only Red who could do anything with his curves was Seymour, who had the visitors' only hits up to the ninth inning, when ex-Pirate Jimmy Sebring came to the rescue with a three-bagger and prevented a shut-out. The game was the fastest played of the season on the home grounds and there were some pretty plays, the most spectacular being the catch of a foul fly by Steinfeldt in his ungloved hand after a hard run in the fourth inning.

The Pirates had men on bases in the first three innings, but could do no scoring until the fourth, which Clymer started with a single to right. Wagner sent up a foul fly over near the left field bleachers which Steinfeldt got after a hard chase, the catch being most sensational, and by clever base running Clymer went to second on the out. Clymer should have scored on Clancy's two-base hit to left, but he played it safe, fearing a catch and only reached third. Clymer scored on Ritchey's fly out to left field. Meride singled to right, scoring Clancy, and Peitz followed with a single on which Seymour made a bad throw and McBride scored the third run of the inning.

Wagner, who was first at bat in the eighth, drove a single to middle, and Clancy shot the ball down at Huggins who made a neat play and threw to second to catch Wagner, but Corcoran dropped the throw. In the meantime Wagner had overrun second and kept right on to third. He was chased along the line, but Corcoran made a wild throw and Hans was safe as was Clancy. Wagner scored on Ritchey's out at first, the drive to Dolan being a very hard one.

With two out in the ninth it looked very much like a shutout for the Reds. Seymour, who made the visitors only hits, kept up his good work by driving the ball to right field. Clymer got the ball and claimed an out, but the umpires decided the ball had been stopped and the batsman was safe. Sebring then drove the ball to the right field fence for three bases, scoring Seymour, and Sebring got home when Ritchey fumbled Odwell's grounder. It was now up to Dolan, but he was an easy out from Ritchey to Clancy and the game was over.

Tommy Leach was unable to play owing to injuries received in the Saturday game at St. Louis, and McBride was at third base. The new man had very little fielding to do, but he was all right with the bat, securing two nice hits, one of which brought a run in, and he scored one run himself. The score:

EXCITING SPORT AT LIVE BIRDS

Quaker City Club Wins Smith Trophy by Making Clean Scores.

WILL SHOOT OFF TODAY

Contrary to expectations, the state shoot, which was expected to end yesterday, did not come to a close but will be carred over until today, in order that two tied events may be shot off. These events are the Driving Park handicap, in which seven shooters finished with clean scores of 20, and the Wilson trophy, where there is a tie between six shooters with clean scores of 25 each.

The shooting yesterday was at live birds, and it furnished the best sport of the week. The weather conditions were almost perfect, and as the birds proved a lively lot the sport was very high class as is shown by the scores in the contest for the L. C. Smith trophy, which was won by the Keystone Shooting club of Philadelphia with a clean score of 45 birds. This somewhat remarkable score was vigorously applauded by all the shooters present.

During the day 2,000 birds were trapped and few of them got away. The showing made by the local gun experts was very satisfactory, and a number of them will participate in the tie shoot off today. The program for today will be the shooting off of the ties and a number of extra events will be added in order to keep the shooters busy. The scores made yesterday follow:

COACHES WILL BE ON PARADE TODAY

Many Handsome Equipages Are Expected in Line for First Annual Event.

DINNER PARTIES ARRANGED

Quite the event of the day will be the first annual coaching parade of the Coaching club, an adjunct organization of the Pittsburgh Country club, which takes place this afternoon. There are expected to be in line seven four-in-hands, a unicorn team, three tandems and seven park traps.

The rendezvous is at the Hotel Schenley at 3 p. m. The route will be out Fifth avenue to its intersection with Beechwood boulevard, and thence to the Pittsburgh Country club, where the parade will end. Numerous dinner parties at the club will conclude the day. The American Military band has been engaged for the occasion.

The parade will be headed by the club coach, "Hiawatha," driven by H. N. VanVoorhis. The other fours will be those of J. G. Bennett, president of the Matinee club; A. R. Hamilton, who won the important blues at last fall's horse show; F. M. Lowry, master of fox hounds, Harkaway hunt; R. B. Mellon, William Thaw, and the Hon. William Flinn, with a team just brought here from New York.

The unicorn team of Edward Groetzinger will be a feature. A remarkably fine tandem team of Charles Donnelly will attract attention, while John Eaton and Horace Moorhead will also be in line with tandems. Victorias and park traps will be driven by Mortimer C. Miller, A. W. Mellon, J. P. McKinney, J. M. Hansen, W. B. Rhodes, William Flinn and Dallas C. Dyers.

The $50,000 stable of the club will be turned over for the day to the teams taking part in the parade, as owners who stable there will remove their horses for the occasion.

Today's parade ushers in the season of the club coach "Hiawatha," which commences its regular run next Saturday from the Pittsburgh and Duquesne clubs to the Country club.

SOCIETY

ONE of the most interesting of the June nuptial events will be the wedding of Miss Helen Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Dickson of North Negley avenue, East End, and Benjamin Dangerfield, Jr. Miss Dickson has selected Tuesday, June 20, as the date, and 5 o'clock as the hour for the ceremony. It will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal church. It has not yet been decided whether the wedding will take place in the church or at the home of the bride-elect. If at the church, there will be a large bridal party. In either event, Miss Dickson's sister, Mrs. Robert W. Downing of Philadelphia will serve as matron of honor. Miss Dickson returned to Pittsburg yesterday after an extended visit at her sister's home, in the Quaker City. Miss Frances Taylor, also of Philadelphia, is expected in Pittsburgh for the wedding, over which she will be Miss Dickson's house guest.

Social Life at the College.

One of the prettiest social affairs ever given at the Pennsylvania College for Women was the tea at which the third year "preps" were hostesses yesterday afternoon. The honors were shared by the girls in the fourth year preparatory class. The affair took place in the drawing rooms of the college, which were beautifully decorated with jonquils, the class flower of the hostesses. Miss Mary Kimball is president of the third year preps. Their honorary member, Mrs. R. C. Armstrong, received with them. Of the fourth year girls, Miss Isabelle Barbour is president. Prizes in a guessing contest were awarded Miss Lulu Poole and Miss Irma Diescher. A dance was given in Dilworth hall last evening by the sophomores for the seniors, and among the guests were a number of alumnae. The colors of the two classes, red and white for the seniors, and green and white for the sophomores, were carried out with banners. The dance cards were pen and ink sketches done by the sophomores. Miss Harriett Kerr is president of the seniors, and Miss Bessie Johnson of the sophs.

Notes of People and Events.

Mrs. Thomas McK. Cook of Western avenue, Allegheny, has postponed the bridge party which she was to have given yesterday afternoon, until Monday at the same time. Mrs. J. Walton Cook, a daughter-in-law of the hostess and a recent bride, will be guest of honor.

She and her husband are now occupying the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boggs in Allegheny, while the latter are established in their summer place, "Hohenberg," Sewickley Heigh s. They will come back to town in the fall when Mr. and Mrs. McBride expect to build a new home. The young people will spend each week at "Hohenberg" through the hot months.

AMONG THE CLUBS

D. A. R. to Celebrate Flag Day.

Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held a special meeting yesterday and accepted the invitation of Mrs. Albert C. McCallam to celebrate flag day, June 14, at her summer home, "Rose Hill," Evergreen station. The regent appointed Mrs. Horace Gillespie Dravo chairman of the general committee of arrangements. Yesterday's meeting was called to hear reports of the delegates who attended the congress of the Daughters in Washington, D. C., the latter part of April. Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon spoke of the dedication of the Memorial Continental hall on Monday morning, April 17. Announcement was made that Connecticut, New Jersey and Rhode Island have given $2,000 each for the memorial columns which will be a feature of the finished building. Connecticut Daughters gave the money in testimony to their state regent; New Jersey's legislature contributed the amount for that state, while the chapters in Rhode Island united to give the column for that state. The proceedings of the second day were reported by Mrs. George C. Lewis, and Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh gave the report of the congress on Wednesday and Saturday.

Mrs. William Sill Foster, in telling of the sessions of the congress on Thrusday, said that the only time there was absolute silence in the hall was when the announcement of the election of president general was made. Pennsylvania stood fourth in representation.

Mrs. Dexter J. Thayer and Mrs. William T. Wallace reported for the alternatives. Mrs. Thayer stated that the alternatives could not hear anything.

Miss Julia M. Harding told of the exercises on the United States cruiser Pennsylvania on Tuesday, April 25, when the bronze bas-relief of William Penn was presented by the Pennsylvania Daughters of the American Revolution. At the suggestion of Miss Harding the chapter yesterday decided to give a collection of historical books, relating particularly to Penn and his colonies, to the officers and crew of the cruiser.

Prospective Students Meet Miss Thomas.

Under the auspices of the Pittsburgh alumnae of Bryn Mawr an informal little tea was given yesterday afternoon in the apartments of Miss M. Carey Thomas, the president of Bryn Mawr college, at the Hotel Schenley. The guests included only a few of the young girls who are contemplating entering Bryn Mawr in a year or so. There were about 25 in attendance. Miss Thomas was assisted in receiving by Miss Mary A. Gleim, Miss Ruth Gentry, Miss Eleanor James, Miss Sarah Ellis, Miss Helen Briggs and Miss Elizabeth Utley. After this informal affair Miss Thomas was entertained at Lyndhurst, Mrs. William Thaw having invited a number of friends to meet Mrs. M. E. Coffin-Graff, a former Pittsburgher, who is now living in New York. Mrs. Coffin-Graff, who is well known about Pittsburgh and the east as a lecturer, gave a number of readings. Miss Thomas arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning and went immediately to the Schenley, where this evening a formal reception will be given in her honor by the Pittsburgh alumnae, at which Miss Thomas will speak. Tomorrow she will spend the day with her cousin, Mrs. Frank T. Taylor of Penn avenue, returning east tomorrow night.

Created a Board of Managers.

A board of managers of the Children's hospital was created yesterday morning by combining the visiting and house committees. The election of officers resulted in the choice of Mrs. George W. Guthrie as president; Miss Mary McKee, first vice president; Mrs. James Hay Reed, second vice president; Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, third vice president; Mrs. Horace G. Dravo, fourth vice president; Miss Bessie Johnson, secretary; Mrs. J. Ramsey Speer, treasurer.

Work on the sun parlor is being pushed as rapidly as possible. There is great need for enlarged quarters, as the capacity of the institution has been taxed to its utmost during the past winter. There are but 23 beds in the hospital, and so many little babies have been received during the past winter that improvised beds of large baskets have been arranged in order that the regular beds might be left for the older children. With the completion of the sun parlor there will be room for 10 more children. The improvements contemplated also include the improvement of the playroom and an additional bath.

Free Lecture on Trees.

The Sewickley valley, always noted for the great number, variety and beauty of its trees, is experiencing an unusual revival of interest in arboriculture this year. In the borough of Edgeworth a village improvement society has been organized, with Mrs. J. Haworth as president. On Saturday evening of this week a lecture on the care of trees, particularly tree surgery and treatment of diseases of trees, will be given at the Edgeworth club by John Davey of Kent, O. Mr. Davey is a celebrated authority upon this work, in which he has been engaged for more than 40 years in England and America. The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon views. Mr. Davey is at the head of a school of forestry largely attended by graduates of agricultural colleges. An invitation has been extended to all who are interested in trees in Sewickley valley, whether club members or not.

Utley, will be opened on Monday afternoon, May 22. Establishing a Settlement House.

The establishment of the settlement house in Soho was reported at the meeting of the Public Baths committee yesterday. Mrs. George Porter, chairman of the settlement committee, reported that the establishment of a sub-department station of the Carnegie library and the opening of a kitchen garden were two accomplished facts in the work of the settlement committee, which has secured the first floor of the house at 2404 Fifth avenue, on the site purchased several months ago for the Soho public bath. The large room on the left of the entrance, the parlor, will be used as a library where the free distribution of books to children will be carried on every afternoon. The Carnegie library will furnish the books, between 2,000 and 3,000, and two librarians who will be on duty every afternoon. The first distribution will take place during the coming week. The salaries of the musicians for the kitchen garden have been guaranteed by a patroness of the settlement, and donations of wall paper for two rooms, a piano, a large number of books and furniture have been received.

Exhibit at Kindergarten College.

A most interesting exhibit will be shown at the Kindergarten college, 3439 Fifth avenue, Oakland, next week. It will consist of some of the hand work done by students in the kindergarten department of Pratt institute. There are still life and animal studies in black and white, and color, decorative designs done by brush, studies of flowers in brush, pencil and cut paper work, the last giving the effect of mosaic. Whole color scales and symphonies are represented in countless ways, and various flower forms have been conventionalized and worked out in weaving for mats or baskets. It is expected to later hold a similar exhibit of work done along these lines by kindergarten children. Both exhibits will be open to the public.

Press Club Social Meeting.

Mrs. Sien B. Smith will entertain members of the Women's Press club of Pittsburgh on Monday afternoon, May 15, at her home, 90 Sprague avenue, Bellevue. It will be purely a social meeting, and a musicale is being arranged.

GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH AGAIN HEADED THIS WAY

"Tody" Hamilton in Glowing Language Depicts Delights to Be Presented Here May 29, 30 and 31.

The only "Tody" Hamilton is again in Pittsburgh and that means Barnum & Bailey's greatest show on earth is once more close at hand. The dates are May 29 and 30 in the East Liberty section of Pittsburgh, and May 31 in Allegheny, and for further information concerning these important occasions the advertising columns of the Pittsburgh newspapers should be consulted. If these by chance be overlooked, any small boy will be able to furnish the desired information.

Probably there is no traveler in this country who is accorded a warmer welcome than dear old "Tody" Hamilton. He says he is growing old, but that is a mistake. He is just as suave and debonair as in the days of long ago, and to hear him tell of the great aggregation he is the avaunt courier for is to listen to no old tale. He always has something new, thrilling and refreshing to tell and when the big show comes it brings the realization of all that "Tody" has pictured. As a man of veracity "Tody" has "Truthful James" backed off the map. He says that is his stock in trade—that following the example of the illustrious Washington he has never told a lie.

"Tody" says that an enumeration of the attractions found with Barnum & Bailey's Greatest this year fairly staggers one by its immensity. He said, for instance:

"The vast double menageries with their great collections of rare specimens of wild beasts, representing the aristocracy of the animal kingdom, its herd of giant giraffes, its double-horned rhinoceros, its great herds of elephants, among which is the baby and mother, serving only as a prelude to the program in the great scenic pavilion, are sufficient to cause one to wish for many additional eyes that all might be seen. The program of the circus proper is simply stupendous. It begins with a sublime spectacle called 'The Durbar at Delhi,' which is the most gorgeous and grandest display of oriental magnificence and splendor ever beheld. Then follows a very long, exhaustive and comprehensive exhibition of circus performances proper. It is claimed by the management that every person who appears in the circus is a star of his kind and the best representative performer of the particular style of act in which he will be seen, whether equestric, aerialistic, acrobatic, gymnastic, hippodromatic, equilibristic or in whatever form. Suffice it to say that the Barnum & Bailey show—always the greatest show on earth—is fairly outdoing itself.

GOVERNMENT CAN CONTROL RATES

Courts, However, Cannot Be Deprived of Restraining Power, Says Mr. Moody.

REPLY TO SENATOR ELKINS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.

In an opinion rendered to the senate committee on interstate commerce today Attorney General Moody holds in unmistakable terms that railroad rate fixing by the government is constitutional. He says that this function can be "intrusted" by congress to a commission, but all that a federal court can do is to determine whether or not rates thus fixed are confiscatory.

Senator Elkins, the chairman of the committee, called upon Mr. Moody for his opinion as to governmental power to regulate the operation of railroads, especially in respect to the fixing of rates for transportation. Mr. Moody's views are thus stated:

After great consideration, it was settled in the group of cases commonly called the Granger cases, that there is a governmental power to regulate the operations of railroads acting as common carriers and, as a part of such regulation, to prescribe the maximum rates which they may charge in the future for the services which they shall render to those who resort to them; and that the power is vested in, and may be exercised by the legislative branch of the government.

But the courts have held that where the legislature has enacted that railway rates shall be impartial and reasonable, the duty of executing this law and determining the rates for the future in detail in conformity with it, may be conferred constitutionally upon an administrative body, and that a grant of such power is not a delegation of the legislative authority.

The case of the Interstate Commerce Commission vs. Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company (supra), established beyond doubt the right of congress to confer upon an administrative body the power to fix and determine maximum railway rates which shall control in the future, by the execution in detail of a general rule enacted into law, as, for example, that the rates shall be just, reasonable and without discrimination.

It appears, perhaps, with sufficient clearness from the cases I have already cited that rate-making is purely a legislative function, in the performance of which the legislative body may avail itself of the aid of an administrative body for the execution in detail of general rules which have been enacted into law.

Assuming, then, that the rate-making power is a legislative function and not a judicial function, it follows necessarily that, under our scheme of government, congress has not the right to vest it in the courts either by conferring original or appellate jurisdiction over the subject.

I conclude, therefore, that congress cannot confer, consistently with the principles of the Constitution, upon a court of the United States, either by way of original or appellate jurisdiction, the power to fix and determine railway rates for the future.

I am of the opinion that the enforcement of any rates prescribed by such national authority would be restrained by the courts if they were of such an unreasonable character as would deny to the carrier just and reasonable compensation for its services, and thereby necessarily deprive it of its property without just compensation or due process of law. The authority of the courts to inquire as to the character and effect of rates fixed legislatively, and to prohibit their enforcement, if confiscatory, is clear.

The views above expressed may be stated briefly as follows:

1. There is a governmental power to fix the maximum future charges of carriers by railroad, vested in the legislatures of the states with regard to transportation exclusively within the states, and vested in congress with regard to all other transportation.

2. Although legislative power, properly speaking, can not be delegated, the law-making body having enacted into law the standard of charges which shall control, may intrust to an administrative body not exercising in the true sense judicial power the duty to fix rates in conformity with that standard.

3. The rate-making power is not a judicial function and can not be conferred constitutionally upon the courts of the United States, either by way of original or appellate jurisdiction.

4. The courts, however, have the power to investigate any rate or rates fixed by legislative authority and to determine whether they are such as would be confiscatory of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect to restrain their enforcement.

5. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

6. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states within the meaning of article 1, section 9, paragraph 6 of the Constitution.

7. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are not within the prohibition of article 1, section 9, paragraph 6 of the Constitution, even though they result in a varying charge per ton per mile to and from the ports of the different states.

U. S. Steel Corporation Orders New Plant Built at Greenville and Old One Improved.

GREENVILLE, May 5.—(Special.)—General Superintendent J. W. Jenks of the American Steel Hoop Company arrived here this morning from New York and announces that the United States Steel Corporation had authorized the rebuilding of the Greenville rolling mill and the addition of a new modern mill. Ground was staked off for the new buildings this afternoon and work will be started at once. It is expected that the new plant will be ready for operation by the middle of July. The present plant will be practically rebuilt. The puddling department will be wrecked and built anew.

If the present plans are carried out the Warren (O.) and Girard (O.) plants will be merged with the one in Greenville. It was stated that the petition signed by every business man in Greenville with two exceptions pledging support to the Carnegie Company when they started the local plant as an open shop, two months ago, had weight with the Steel Corporation in authorizing the improvements.

Decides for Pittsburgh Firm.

NEW CASTLE, May 5.—(Special.)—Judge Porter today handed down a decision dissolving the temporary injunction he had issued restraining the board from awarding to the American Warming and Ventilating Company of Pittsburgh the contract at $5,300 for the construction of the heating plant of the new $40,000 school now being erected here. Judge Porter announced that Smith, Hutton & Kirk, the plaintiffs, have other recourse in law to collect damages, instead of by stopping work on a school building badly needed.

GREAT ENGLISH CITY WILL BE ERECTED IN CUBA

Sir William Van Horne Plans a Rival to Havana and Opening of Nipe Bay to Navigation. British Influence Grows.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAVANA, May 5.—Sir William Van Horne, the noted Canadian railroad man, and president of the Cuban Central railroad, proposes to erect on Nipe bay on the northern coast of the province of Santiago, a city which will rival Havana. The work will be done with British capital and will be a long step in the Anglicization of Cuba, which has been quietly going on since independence.

The first step in this scheme already has been taken. Nipe bay is not open to commerce yet, but a petition has been made to President Palma by Sir William Van Horne to open it and this has been backed up by petitions from planters, farmers and merchants along the line of the railway. It is believed that President Palma will act favorably on the petition in a short time and work will at once commence in making Nipe City the eastern terminus of the railroad and building up the new rival of Havana. It is part of the plan to put on lines of steamers between England and New York and it is claimed much time can be saved over that required at Havana.

English capital has been steadily increasing in Cuba until now some portions of the island, particularly in the east, are in pretty much the same shape as the Azores, where the English have practically gotten control of the land and everything else, while the Spanish population is almost entirely composed of wage-workers. The situation in the Azores is such that it is said the king of Spain is to make a personal visit there to see if something cannot be done to restore the land to the Spaniards.

FRAMING CONSTITUTION FOR THE CZAR'S REALM

Meeting in Moscow Outlines a Plan for a Popular Legislative Assembly.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MOSCOW, May 5.—The most ambitious and thorough project of the new governmental organism contemplated by the rescript of March 3, namely, a popular assembly, is being discussed by the second great zemstvo congress which opened here today. The present congress is ambitious to play the part of a constitutional convention and to formulate the long desired constitution of the empire. Its decisions will have weight with representative gatherings, as the congress is composed of 132 delegates from all the zemstvos throughout Russia. The congress is meeting privately.

The proposal contemplates a bicameral body consisting, first, of a house of popular representatives elected directly on the basis of universal manhood suffrage, and second, "a house of zemstvos," on senate, elected by indirect choice, like the American senate, the members being chosen by organs of local self-government —that is, provincial zemstvos and municipal assemblies, the two houses to be co-ordinate.

The franchise for the house of representatives appertains to all males 21 years old except soldiers, police and criminals, on the basis of either residence or taxpaying in the district, but no multiple voting; candidates to be chosen on the system of double elections; if there is no majority at the first election the candidates obtaining a plurality the second time is elected. There is to be a triennial term for members of the popular house, and senators are to be chosen for the same term as the bodies electing them. Vacancies in both houses will be filled by new elections. Members are not bound to following the instructions of constituents.

PITTSBURGH GOLFER SHOWS FINE SKILL IN MATCH

E. M. Byers by Clever Play Defeats Harvey Sands—Match Is Best of the Day.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 5.—W. J. Travis and Arden M. Robbins, one of the few old guards able to hold his own, qualified today for the final of the chief cup in the golf tournament at Garden City. The British champion, who not only has 50-inch drivers, but a driving mashie which only could be designated as a fishing pole, disposed in turn of P. R. Jennings and W. C. Chick.

The best match of the afternoon was undoubtedly that between E. M. Byers and Harold Sands in the second division. The popular young Pittsburgh amateur is driving a terrifically long ball, but is not as certain with his irons as he was, as he seems to have fallen into a habit of "jabbing" every shot.

There was little between the twain until playing the eighth hole, which fell to Mr. Byers. The latter supplemented this by winning the ninth and turning for home two up. Coming home the Pittsburg man held his advantage and, registering a four at the 16th, he won the hole and the match. Summary of the day's matches:

First cup, second round—A. M. Robbins, St. Andrews, beat R. C. Watson, Jr., Westbrook, 8 up and 7 to play; Dwight Hartridge, St. Paul, beat A. Murow, Baltusrol, 2 up; W. J. Travis, Garden City, beat P. R. Jennings, Garden City, 4 up and 3 to play; W. C. Chick, Oakley, beat J. D. Travers, Nassau, 4 up and 3 to play.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 5.—The Rev. U. G. Sutherlin, formerly pastor of the Park Christian church at New Albany, Ind., was arrested today at Silver Grove, Ind., charged with the murder of his wife. WILL EDUCATE FILIPINOS IN NEW COMMON LANGUAGE

Secretary Taft Talks on the Purposes of the United States Toward the Islands.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, May 5.—William H. Taft, secretary of war, talked informally before the National Geographical society tonight about the conditions in the archipelago. The talk was largely a reply to criticisms that have been made by Englishmen of the administration and conditions existing in the islands. The criticisms were to the effect that the American government spent too much money in education.

Generally the secretary replied with vigor to the criticisms made, declaring that in view of the peculiar conditions existing they were not well founded. Secretary Taft pointed out that large expenditures for education were essential to the proper development of the islands. The attitude of the people he declared indicated their earnest desire to learn English and become educated.

The insular government he said hopes to build up a body of 10,000 or 15,000 Filipino teachers to educate the people in a new common language, a language of free institutions, to teach the people to dignify labor and instruct every man to use his mind and hands to a purpose.

Matthews' Body Taken Home.

SOMERSET, May 5.—(Special.)—The remains of Lloyd R. Matthews, son of County Treasurer W. S. Matthews who died in Pittsburgh, were brought to Somerset this evening in charge of Oscar L. Matthews, a brother, who went to Pittsburgh last night and identified the body. The funeral will likely be conducted by the Odd Fellows, of which deceased was a member. Young Matthews had been suffering from a fever which had left him slightly demented, disappeared from home last Saturday without telling his relatives where he was going.

Hope for Mrs. Rogers.

MONTPELIER, VT., May 5.—Chief Justice J. W. Rowell announced tonight that the application for a hearing on the petition for a new trial of Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers has been granted. The hearing will be on May 17. Mrs. Rogers is under sentence of death for the murder of her husband.

Pittsburgh Contractors Will Build New Indiana Railroad

A Pittsburgh concern, the Patton & Gibson Co., has secured the contract for the construction of the first 20 miles of the Indianapolis extension of the Southern Indiana railroad. This is to be a low grade line, running through and tapping the newly opened coal fields of Clay county, Indiana, and will be immediately extended into Indianapolis, where terminals have been acquired by the purchase of the stock yard property. The contract awarded to the Pittsburgh company embraces some very heavy steam shovel work and will run about 40,000 yards to the mile and is to be completed this year. This company is also building the Indiana Harbor railroad (the Big Four's new Chicago-St. Louis line), between Morocco and Kentland, Ind. Winston Bros. Company of Minneapolis are doing the construction work of the same road from Morocco north to where connection is made with the Outer Belt Line of Chicago.

Evolution of Car Couplings.

"The Evolution of Car Couplings" is the title of one of the handsomest trade publications ever printed for the purpose, and it is brought out by the McConway & Torley Company in connection with the International railway congress now in session at Washington. Following the example set by the American Railway association in its publications relating to the congress, the book is printed in both English and French. The McConway & Torley Company manufactures the "Janney," "Kelso" and "Pitt" couplers, and its product is known wherever there are railroad trains.

Locomotive Output of Late Years.

As bearing upon the large orders recently received by the locomotive builders the output of locomotives in previous years is of interest. The number built exclusive of those built by the railroads at their own shops was as follows: In 1904, 3,441; 1903, 5,352; 1902, 4,070; 1901, 3,384; 1900, 3,133; 1899, 2,473; 1898, 1,875; 1897, 1,251; 1896, 1,175; 1895, 1,101; 1894, 695; 1893, 2,011. For this year 3,600 have been ordered, most of which are of the modern large types.

Disposed of Reading Stock.

The announcement by President Newman of the Lake Shore, in his annual report, that 79,000 shares of Reading common stock has been disposed of during the year and the proceeds turned into the treasury, has brought to light the fact that the Baltimore & Ohio disposed of a similar number of shares of its holding in Reading stock. In carrying out the community of interest project arranged between President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania and the Vanderbilts, a large purchase of Reading stock was made several years ago and distributed in equal amounts to the Baltimore & Ohio and the Lake Shore. The purchase represented a total of $54,000,000 of the par value of the Reading stocks. The sale was made during the high prices of the recent boom and netted the sellers a handsome profit, as the price paid was generally supposed to have been from 25 to 35, while the stock within the past six weeks nearly touched par.

Commerce Commission Work.

In eight cases the rulings of the commission were sustained; in 29 cases the courts declined to enforce the commission's orders, four have been discontinued and four are now pending.

SOUTH SIDE IS LIKE MEN FROM MISSOURI

Friends of Annexation Must Show the Benefits of a Greater Pittsburgh.

If the Greater Pittsburgh act passes the constitutional test of the supreme court, the South Side will be the battle ground in determining whether or not Pittsburgh and Allegheny are to enter into municipal wedlock. There are 15 wards upon that bank of the Monongahela river and according to those well advised in feeling the public pulse, the thousands in those wards who possess the right of franchise will march to the polls in opposition to enlargement of city boundary lines.

The opposition is born of a lack of information upon the part of friends of an enlarged municipality as to why a Greater Pittsburgh should be erected. Those who favor the project will have to give to the people of the South Side some substantial argument in favor of municipal marriage. As conditions stand today, the vote of old Birmingham and its environs will be cast against annexation. The reason is found in the fact that the taxpayers who live on the south shore of the Monongahela can see nothing to compensate them for assisting in giving Pittsburgh a greater standing in the outside world. They are not swayed by sentiment, but insist, like the Missourian, that they must be shown.

If there are any two men resident south of the Monongahela capable of feeling the pulse upon any public question, that pair is John Bradley and Alderman David J. McGarey. They have lived in that locality for years and have lived among the people of the South Side. Mr. Bradley said:

I am waiting for reasons in favor of a Greater Pittsburgh. If the friends of annexation can show me why a majority should be voted in favor of the creation of an enlarged municipality, I am ready to throw any influence I may possess to that side of the scale. At present I stand with a blank piece of paper, waiting for the reasons for and against to be written. Those favorable to a Greater Pittsburgh should grasp the opportunity and begin to give reasons. So far none save those tinged with sentimentality have been advanced. Unless it can be shown that the South Side taxpayers will be benefited, the vote of that locality will be recorded in opposition to annexation. I am without prejudice and await conviction.

Alderman McGarey advanced similar reasons to those expressed by Mr. Bradley. He said:

The fact that my aldermanic commission may be snatched from me does not form the basis for my opinion. The South Siders are simply waiting to be convinced. They want to know whether or not annexation will bring a higher, lower or the same tax rate. Personally I had hoped to see a better form of government come with a Greater Pittsburgh. The people are not satisfied with their police, fire and health protection. The annexation act gives no relief in this respect. If we can even be shown that there is reason to hope for a betterment votes will be switched to the side of municipal enlargement.

CALUMET, MICH., May 5.—The cable attached to the passenger car in the shaft of the Calumet and Heckla copper mine broke today while 34 men were being lowered into the mine. Several of the men sustained minor injuries during their wild plunge, but none of them was seriously hurt. The shaft in which the accident occurred is a mile deep.

Run for the Doctor

Some people think it necessary to do so on the slightest occasion——Other people and a great many of them, who are much wiser, very seldom have to call a doctor.

Why?

Because they always have at hand, ready in case of sudden sickness or accident, a bottle of Hamlins Wizard Oil——the best and most reliable substitute for the family doctor, and one that very often makes his presence entirely unnecessary——Wizard Oil relieves immediately, and cures all pain from whatsoever cause. Price, 50c. and $1.00.

NEW YORK STOCKS MADE A GOOD RALLY

Closing Prices Were at or Near the Highest of the Day—Pittsburgh Stocks Remained Dull and Listless.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Without any change in basic conditions, a radical change occurred in the tone of the New York stock market yesterday. Prices opened higher all around, and with little hesitation advanced to the close, which was at or near the highest. There was a falling off in the volume of dealings, the sales slightly exceeding 900,000 shares, which represented the relaxation of selling pressure which was so conspicuous the day before. There was no further explanation for the weakness and liquidation on Thursday, and there was no explanation for the right-about face of the market yesterday.

The meeting of the stockholders of Union Pacific did not occur until late in the day, and the fact that it was entirely harmonious, with practically no opposition to voting an increase of $100,000,000 preferred stock, was not announced until near the close of the market. It probably had a sentimental effect in sustaining the rally, and closing prices strong.

It remains to be seen what will be done with the proceeds of the new stock. When the proposition was first announced early last month it not only caused great surprise in the street, but the conclusion was immediately reached that it meant preparation for a fight for control of the northwestern railroad situation. The rumors in connection with this matter, and the absence of official information as to the plans of the Union Pacific which left room for all sorts of surmises, have been an influencing factor in the stock market for the past three weeks.

Union Pacific stock opened higher at 117⅜, and advanced steadily to 120¾, closing at the best. All other high-grade railroad stocks which were under pressure on Thursday opened higher and eventually recovered all the loss of the day before. London quotations for American securities averaged lower, but the appearance of strength on this side seemed to have an effect abroad, and London was a buyer of stocks on balance.

Pennsylvania was quoted ex-dividend of 3 per cent, and after selling at 135¼, the opening and lowest price, advanced to 136¾, closing with 1 per cent of the dividend recovered. Reading also ruled strong and higher, despite the official information that one of the holders of the majority interest had sold a considerable block of the stock in the open market. The strength of Erie was responsible for surmises that this stock was being absorbed by the same interest which lightened its load of Reading, but there was nothing to confirm this view.

The industrial list was as strong, relatively, as the railroads, and all closed higher. The announcement from Springfield that the Illinois senate had defeated the passage of the gas bill was responsible for the strength of Peoples Gas, which advanced to and closed at 110, a net rise of 6¾ per cent for the day. Consolidated Gas also rallied sharply on the defeat of the principal bill for regulating the price of gas, and closed with a net gain of 5⅜ per cent. Amalgamated Copper closed 2⅛ per cent higher for the day, and both the United States Steel issues closed 1⅛ per cent higher. Tennessee Coal and Iron closed 4 per cent higher and American Locomotive 2¾ per cent. The minor iron and steel stocks closed 1½@2 per cent higher than the previous day.

Call loan rates declined to and closed offered at 2 per cent, the lowest rate quoted for weeks. Preliminary estimates of the movements of money during the week foreshadowed a net gain in cash reserves in today's bank statement of a little less than $1,000,000.

The local stock market remained dull and listless, but the tone was firmer. Crucible Steel preferred rallied 1 per cent to 63¼ and the common recovered to 11⅛, but both issues were extremely dull. The largest dealings were in Philadelphia Company common, 1,100 shares changing hands at the uniform price of 43½, a net loss of 1¼ points. The stock closed offered at that price, and without bid. The recent annual report, which is favorably regarded in the east, where control of the stock is held, produced no enthusiasm in Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh Coal common remained unchanged at 17¼@17½, while the preferred closed lower at 72½, after selling at 73. River Coal common made a further gain by selling at 10. Westinghouse Electric rallied from 84½ to 86. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas, after selling at 62, declined to 61, a net loss of ¾ per cent. Bank stocks and bonds were quiet and unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The advices sent out by Wall street commission houses after the close of the stock market yesterday for the guidance of their interior correspondents and customers were of a rather non-committal character. The majority of brokers look for a continuation of the rise today, but the basis for such rise, if any, will be covering of shorts. The short interest is thought to be large, particularly in United States Steel stocks and Union Pacific. The unanimity of Union Pacific stockholders in authorizing an issue of $100,000,000 additional preferred stock, indicating that Harriman is still in complete control, may cause covering of shorts in Union Pacific common and have a sympathetic effect upon the remainder of the railroad list. There is a growing feeling, however, that a resumption of a broad bull campaign at this time is out of the question, and some houses which have heretofore been bullish expressed the opinion that the market was a better sale on rallies than purchases on declines. The probabilities are that in the absence of any important developments the market will become less active and move within a narrower range of fluctuations.

There was a decided shrinkage in the volume of business yesterday showing that the bidding up of prices had to be carried further to recover a less amount of stocks than was sold the day before. This constitutes an excellent showing of the reduced volume of stock offering for sale and is an indication of technical strength in the market and of relief afforded by the liquidation so far completed, but there was a very marked falling off in the demand at the higher level of prices, the dullness of the trading showing a progressive increase. The inference is that the buying was to a large extent forced in the same way that the previous selling was. The bear traders who followed the declines Thursday with free short sales felt obliged to cover their free contracts in face of the evidence that the most urgent liquidation was completed.

There were no transactions in Manufacturers Light and Heat yesterday, the stock closing steady at 35 bid, 35½ asked.

Only 50 shares Crucible Steel common changed hands all day and only 115 shares of the preferred.

A small lot of Harbison-Walker preferred sold at 71, an advance of 1 per cent over the last previous sale.

National Fire Proofing preferred was firmer, advancing to 35, while the common declined to 10½ on one transaction. The company is said to be booking many orders which aggregate a large total.

Transactions in United States Steel stocks on the local board almost exclusively represent scalping operations with the eastern market. Several Pittsburgh members of the New York stock exchange have what are called fast wires, which keep them posted on the market in advance of traders who depend exclusively on the ticker for quotations. These brokers take advantage of every opportunity to scalp small fractions out of the market.

On the exchange yesterday 50 shares Central Trust were offered at 65.

Golden Anchor stock was quoted at 90@95. The weakness was probably due to the announcement of a failure at Tonopah of a dealer interested in mining properties, but not connected with any of the Pittsburgh group of mines.

The gross earnings of Missouri, Kansas & Texas for the fourth week in April increased $205,000, and for the month $466,000.

The annual report of the Lake Shore railway shows that during the year 79,000 shares of the company's holdings of the common stock of the Reading Company were sold by authority of the board of directors and the amount realized thereon turned into the general treasury of the company.

The actual profits of the General Electric Company for the fiscal year ending January 31, 1905, amounted to 17 per cent on the capital stock. This includes profits from manufacturers' and construction written off, together with miscellaneous income, but does not include profits from sale of stocks and bonds owned. It compares with 21 per cent earned in the fiscal year 1904, 25 per cent in 1903, and 35 per cent earned in 1902, the decline being partially due to increased capital stock.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the fourth week in April decreased $21,458, but for the month they increased $18,627.

Should it prove true, as a Philadelphia paper asserts is the case, that the underwriters of the $100,000,000 Pennsylvania bond offering will be obliged to take up the greater part of the issue, the fact would not be surprising, in view of the repeated heavy demands of the year for investment funds. The May circulars of the bond houses admitted a certain degree of dullness in the bond market and probably were merely acknowledging a condition which set in some time before.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

GOOD PROGRESS IN BUILDING

TODAY'S LOT SALES.

Summit park, on the Charleroi line. Keck, Hofe & Daschbach, agents.

Lonergan, near Mt. Lebanon. The Burns & Reilly Real Estate Company, agents.

West Liberty, the Beechwood Improvement Company, limited, agents.

Clairton, the St. Clair Improvement Company, agents.

Two good sales of residence property in the Squirrel Hill district were reported yesterday. Through the office of the Samuel W. Black Company, Albert H. Burchfield sold to a prominent local business man 146x200 feet at the southwest corner of Wightman street and Darlington road, Twenty-second ward, for a price approximating $20,000. The lot is in a very desirable location and will be improved in the near future with a fine residence.

The other Squirrel Hill property sold is at the northwest corner of Northumberland street and South Negley avenue, Twenty-second ward. It consists of a lot 72x180 feet, which is improved with a modern brick house. The property belonged to the John E. Walsh estate and was bought by James F. Quinn for $18,000.

Another sale of East End property announced yesterday was that of the John F. Miller residence on the west side of Sheridan place, near Grafton street, Nineteenth ward, for $11,770. John L. Taylor is the buyer of the property, which includes a modern reception hall brick house on a lot 42x90 feet.

Fifth Avenue Sale of $24,000.

The sale is reported of the P. Stack holdings at 1722 Fifth avenue for $24,000, or a little over $1,000 a front foot. The lot has a frontage of 23 feet on the south side of Fifth avenue, between Van Braam and Millenberger streets, and adjoining the No. 4 engine house and the property of Kaufmann Brothers, and is 120 feet deep. A brick store building is the only improvement. The buyer is said to be a downtown business man, who takes the property for an investment.

Caroline F. Smith has given title to Allegheny county for her property in Old avenue, near Sixth avenue, which was condemned for a year for an addition to the county jail site. Condemnation proceedings dragged along through several months and finally resulted in the county paying Mrs. Smith $49,602 23 for her lot. This measured 36x72 feet and was vacant at the time it was taken.

Herman Obernauer proves to have been the buyer of the S. Goldstein property on the south side of Fifth avenue, near Dinwiddie street, Fourteenth ward, which was sold lately for $21,000. The lot is 20x120 feet and is improved with a brick house. The sale is at the rate of $1,050 a front foot, or $8.75 a square foot.

Large Building Contracts Awarded.

Architects are busy with contracts and estimates nowadays and several good jobs have been awarded this week. Architect Edward Stotz let the contract to the A. & S. Architects Nirdlinger & Simpson, who have lately moved from the Fitzsimons building to 613 Diamond National bank building, have awarded the contract to the Henry Shenk Company for the residence of R. G. Gillespie, to be built in Fifth avenue at the head of Aiken avenue. The residence will be a colonial type of house, of stone and brick, and will cost $43,500.

The same architects let the contract to W. O. Wright for the residence of R. D. Beatty in Linden avenue, to cost $15,000. They also have plans for an $8,500 house for W. R. Evans in Dawson avenue, Bellevue.

Architect James T. Steen let the contract to E. K. Hegy for the three-story brick apartment house of Mrs. Ada McCracken, to be built in Semple avenue, near Zouave street, Fourteenth ward, at a cost of $26,500. They are also taking bids on three apartment houses for Mrs. Charles L. McCutcheon in Neville street, near Fifth avenue, to cost $34,000.

Bids are being taken by Architects McCollum & Dowler for a six-story brick hotel building at Butler for Simon and J. Brown Nixon. The building, which will face on the public square, will contain over 80 sleeping rooms and will cost about $160,000.

Architects Struthers & Hannah are taking estimates on remodeling the annex to the Second Presbyterian temple in Eighth street. The building is in the rear of the main auditorium and will be made over into a Sunday school headquarters at a cost of about $25,000. The same architects have plans for remodeling the "Peoples" store of William Campbell in Fifth avenue. The improvements include a new store front in Oliver avenue and a mezzanine floor to contain reading and writing rooms. They also have plans for a three-story plan for the Pure Condensing and Caramel Company at Lexington, O., to cost $10,000.

Architect W. J. Shaw has plans for an $8,000 brick residence to be built for J. A. Johnston in Ellsworth avenue, Bellevue, on what was formerly the front lawn of the old Bayne residence.

Gain of 27 Per Cent Over Country.

According to the Construction News of Chicago the increase in building in April over the month of April, 1904, was fully 27 per cent. This estimate was based upon reports received from 28 of the largest cities in the country, a big majority of which showed substantial gains. A total of 9,160 buildings were authorized which are estimated to cost $10,993,888 against a total of 8,577 buildings which cost about $8,443,068 in April, 1904. This is an increase of $8,850,820, which is made up for the most part by the gain in the number of manufactories and warehouses planned and the tremendous boom in house building.

The Hotel Frantz property on Halket avenue, one of the landmarks of Braddock, has been sold by Mrs. Jonathan Frantz to Frank Corrado, who has been proprietor of the hotel for three years. STRAWBERRIES MAY REACH WINTER PRICES

Short Supply of Standard Goods Runs Up the Figure—Other Markets Are Firm.

Strawberries were the liveliest thing in the local market yesterday. The price advanced to $4 00 and $4 75 a crate, and the probability is that there will be a $5 market today unless a large supply comes in. Even if several carloads arrive they will have no effect in checking the market unless they are of much better quality than the 20 carloads received Thursday.

Flour continued firm yesterday and the Northwestern Miller states that buyers are getting into the market now in the belief that prices have touched the bottom. Export trade has improved. There was practically none before the break in wheat, but today a decided business has been built up for foreign shipment. This will have a tendency to hold the market as it is. Some mills sold more than their production last week, and the business is better than it has been for many months.

Sugar is steady and coffee firm. A further advance in the east has not had any effect locally as yet, but may do so. Canned goods are meeting a heavy sale.

Green goods are plenty and getting cheap. Business was fair yesterday and the indications for next week are good. Butter is a little weak, but it is not believed it will sustain any further reduction Monday. The cheese market is firm, and eggs are steady at the prices quoted.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 28 cars hay, 17 cars oats, 1 car straw, 5 cars corn. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 5 cars oats, 2 cars hay, 2 cars corn. Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars oats, 11 cars hay, 2 cars corn, 1 car corn and oats.

Business in the hay and grain exchange is still very dull. There was a further decline in clover and mixed hay yesterday and an advance in corn. Corn is still scarce, hardly equal to the demand.

Late Oil Development Shows No Importance as to Size or Location

The lower southwest fields furnished very few completions yesterday and none were important as to size or location. On Salem Fork, in Ten Mile district, Harrison county, W. Va., the Industrial Oil and Gas Company has drilled its second test on the Girts' Industrial Home property seven feet into the Gordon and has a fight show of oil. It is still drilling and expects a second pay. The first test on the farm, located 800 feet south, came in a good producer, and did better than 200 barrels a day at the start and is now producing about 40 barrels a day. It inspired the town lot development, now attracting some attention in that locality.

In the deep sand district, near Fairview, Marion county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its second test on the J. G. Haight farm and has a show for a light pumper. It will be given a shot and is expected to make a 5 or 10-barrel producer. West of Mannington, in the 30-foot development, the Delmar Oil Company's No. 12 on the J. L. and A. J. Hays farm near Glen has completed and is producing 75 barrels a day. The South Penn Oil Company's No. 2 on the C. S. Pitzer farm is holding up at 175 barrels a day, and the Freeland Oil and Gas Company's No. 1 on the Grubb farm at 150 barrels. Trees & Benedum's Nos. 1, 2 and 3 on the J. L. Holden farm have declined to 100 barrels a day.

In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn company is fishing at its No. 5 on the Peterson-Price farm. The well was showing a little oil in the Gordon when the tools were lost. On the west side of the 50-foot development in Marion county, the Freeland Oil Company is still drilling in the Gordon at its No. 5 on the F. Michael farm, but has found no increase in production and will not have better than a 15-barrel pumper.

In Clay district, Monongalia county, Carnahan & Debenhaffer will not drill their test on the Reason Sine farm deeper at present. It is a strong gasser in the Big Injun. On Dotts run, Clay district, Monongalia county, the Rock Bottom Oil Company is down 2,000 feet at a test on the A. K. Price farm.

On the Ohio side, in Meigs, the Big Lime development southeast of Jerusalem, Monroe county, the Mars Drilling Company has drilled its test on the F. E. Bowley farm through the Big Injun and found that formation barren. It was then given a shot in the Big Lime and produced 75 barrels the ensuing 24 hours. In the same district H. E. Shafer & Co.'s No. 1 on the Mary J. Hoffman farm is holding up at 70 barrels a day.

In the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company has completed its No. 19 on the J. M. Russell farm and has a duster in the shallow sand, in the same district. C. W. VanLaw has completed his No. 2 on the E. Shook farm and has a light pumper. A. C. Ball & Co. are drilling No. 4 on the Sarah E. Shook farm.

In the Mt. Morris district, Greene county, Pa., Girard, Longanecker & Co. have completed their second test on the South Minor farm and have a duster in all sands.

Near New Jefferson, five miles south of Amsterdam, in Harrison county, O., Kinkaid-Gee & Co. have drilled their test on the Crocker Bros.' farm through all sands and to a depth of 1,658 feet and have a pumper. This location is far in advance of production and was regarded as a test of considerable importance. A very light showing of oil was encountered in the Berea grit.

The Hepedale district continues to lead Harrison county developments. The wells are small, averaging about 6 barrels, but the producing formation is fairly regular. Eleven wells were completed last month and 62, (except one, a gasser), came in producers.

The Wool Market.

LONDON, May 5.—The offerings at the wool sales today numbered 11,994 bales. There was keen buying for all sections and merino showed an average advance of 7½ per cent above the March sales. Qualities suitable for America often advanced 10 per cent. Cross breds, especially light conditioned, were in sellers' favor owing to the anxiety of home and American buyers to secure them. The strength is attributed to the recent expansion in the consumption in manufacturing centers and to the fact that the direct imports are now going into strong hands. The lack of American demand for fine grades is responsible for a hardening tendency in coarse cross breds although the consumption of the latter is restricted by the dullness in the Bradford yarn trade. Following are the sales in detail: New South Wales, 1,900 bales; scoured, 9½@92c; 21½; Queensland, 600 bales; greasy, 61½@64c; 15½; Victoria, 1,000 bales; scoured, 1s 4½@1s 5d; greasy, 61½@62½c; 14½; South Australia, 1,200 bales; scoured, 1s 4½@1s 5d; greasy, 60½@61½c; West Australia, 400 bales; scoured, 1s 4½@1s 5d; greasy, 61½@61½c; Tasmania, 100 bales; greasy, 90@91c; 16; New Zealand, 5,000 bales; scoured, 90@91c; greasy, 62½@63c; Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 800 bales; scoured, 1s 4½@1s 5d; greasy, 62c@$1 14; Punta Arenas, 400 bales; greasy, 60c@$1 14.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5 points under moderate realizing, prompted by lower European cables than expected. There was a fair demand at the decline, however, from trade interests and from the Brazilian contingent, remained while warehouse deliveries continued light, the market recovered part of the early loss. The close was quiet, net unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales were reported of 35,250 bags, including July at 6.55c; August at 6.65c; September at 7.07½c; December at 7.30@7.35c, and March at 7.40@7.45c. Spot—Rio steady; mild firm; Cordova, 10@12c. WHEAT IS BEARISH AND TRADING SMALL

Excellent Weather Conditions for Growth of New Crop Chief Cause of the Weakness.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, ILL., May 5.—Excellent weather conditions for the growth of the new crop formed the primary cause of a weak wheat market here today. At the close July wheat was off ¼c. Corn and oats up ¼c. Provisions are 2½@3c higher.

Sentiment in the wheat pit was bearish and the volume of trading was small. Brilliant weather was decidedly a factor in tending to hold down prices. One cause of dullness was uncertainty surrounding the government crop report, which will be issued next Wednesday and which will give the condition and acreage of winter wheat. The general impression seemed to be that the report would be of a bearish character. At the opening the market was quite steady on a fair demand from shorts. July was up a shade at 83¾c. Selling by pit traders soon caused a reaction, July declining to 82¾c. Poor demand for cash wheat and flour in outside markets had considerable influence in forcing down the optional value of wheat in this market. Additional reports giving glowing accounts of the condition of winter wheat were received. As a partial offset to these advices a report from Jeffriesburg, Mo., stated that complaints of damages by Hessian fly were numerous and that much wheat had been plowed up. This report started fresh covering by shorts, resulting in July advancing to 83½c. The rally was short lived, however, renewed selling by pit traders causing another reaction. The market closed easy, with July at 83¼@83¼c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 84,300 bushels. Exports for the week as shown by Bradstreets, were equal to 1,279,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 187,400 bushels, compared with 142,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 91 cars, against 149 cars last week and 74 cars a year ago.

Small receipts of corn caused fairly active buying by shorts, resulting in a firm market. A marked decrease in primary receipts also aided in creating bullish sentiment. July opened a shade to ¼@½c higher at 46¾@47c, sold between 46½@46¾c and 47c, and closed at 46¾@47c. Local receipts were 37 cars, with two of contract grade.

Oats were firm. Business, however, was light and trading mostly in small lots. Strength was due principally to the demand of May option from shorts in the northwest. July opened unchanged to a shade higher at 29¼@29¾c, sold between 28¾@29c and 29¼c, and closed at 29@29¼c. Local receipts were 70 cars.

Provisions were in sympathy with a 10c advance in the price of live hogs. Packers were the principal buyers. The selling was by pit traders. At the close July pork was up 2½@2¾c, lard was up 2½@2¾c, Ribs were 2½@5c higher at $7 47½@7 50.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 5 cars; corn, 65 cars; oats, 71 cars; hogs, 11,000 head.

CAPT. WILSON TO BE TRIED MONDAY

Judge Frazer Rebukes Heartless Father Who Wanted to Get Rid of Child.

FUNDS AWAITING NEXT OF KIN

The second trial of Capt. James Wilson of the Allegheny police force will commence Monday morning, according to the weekly trial list which was given out yesterday. Wilson is charged with extortion by the district attorney. The jury disagreed in his first trial last week. Several others included in the Allegheny "graft" crusade are also on the list for Monday. In addition to the cases on the weekly list such other criminal court cases will be added as are returned by the grand jury which will convene Monday.

Judge Frazer, sitting at a session of juvenile court yesterday, took the opportunity of telling a man who wished to rid himself of his 10-year-old child, what he thought of him. Mary Ackerman of Duquesne came into court with his daughter, Eva. The little girl was shabbily dressed and her shoes had worn out long ago. She was weeping bitterly when her father led her into the room and inquired of Assistant District Attorney William D. Grimes how he could dispose of the girl. Mr. Grimes told him he would have to make out a petition to the court, and supplied him with the necessary papers, which he filled out in the court room.

When he was called to the bar, the child was led forward, still crying. After several minutes of questioning, Judge Frazer found that Ackerman had induced his daughter to come to the city with him on a pretense that he would buy her a new pair of shoes. The court also discovered that the girl's mother was not willing that she should be brought into court, and that the mother knew nothing of the proceedings. He also learned that Ackerman wanted the girl sent to Morganza. When Judge Frazer learned all these things he could hardly control his temper and said it was one of the most heartless and brutal cases that had ever come before him. He finally ordered Ackerman to take his daughter back to her home. On second thought, he said he did not think Ackerman a fit person to accompany the girl as far as Duquesne, and ordered Deputy Sheriff Joseph E. Gilbert to accompany the pair to their home to see that the child arrived safely and was not harmed.

Decrees in the Orphans' Court.

Judge Hawkins of orphans' court filed a decree in the estate of James Wood, dismissing exceptions to the account of the administrator, and confirming the account absolutely. He also directs that the balance in the hands of the administrator, $701 97, be held until further information of the next of kin may be obtained. Exceptions were filed to the account by Thomas Bingham, H. A. Canaga and Mrs. Mary Fillis, who put in bills for room rent, board and nursing alleged to have been contracted by Wood. Certain bills were paid by the administrator soon after Wood's death, and these additional bills were filed. The court states that Wood was in circumstances to pay his bills, and that there is nothing to show that he did not do so. The court also remarks on the statement of Bingham, which account was kept in a memorandum book which plainly shows that erasures were made, as in one place the word "paid" can be plainly read.

Judge Hawkins also filed opinions in the estates of F. J. Burns and of Daniel Weigold. In the Burns estate the claim of Mrs. Peake for nursing and boarding was refused as the evidence showed that Burns paid rent and running expenses in excess of the claim. The Weigold case was based on the question whether Arthur Wessel, as a broker, was entitled to commissions for the sale of real estate. Weigold died on December 16, 1903, and the property was sold to the Wabash railroad in the following March for $19,800, a third of all over $16,500 of which was to go to Wessel. The court allows Wessel only 2 per cent commission, saying it is a well set rule that death revokes a power of attorney. The court also finds there is a question as to whether or not, in view of the claimant's avowed abuse of remedy by bill, he is guilty of misconduct which should bar him from recognition in a court of equity. There is a balance of $16,-389 21 for distribution.

Divorce Court Proceedings.

The master in the divorce proceedings brought by Robert H. McConkey against Mary McConkey recommends that a decree be granted. The master says that he finds McConkey to be an inoffensive man whose wife continually nagged at him, threatening to kill him and accusing him of infidelity. According to the testimony whenever he would have friends or business callers at the house she would invariably commence to sweep or dust in the room where they were sitting.

The commissioner in the case of Blanch Boyer against Thomas J. Boyer, a physician, has filed an additional report at the request of the court. Mrs. Boyer testified that they had trouble over checks cashed, some of which she had to pay. Other witnesses testified that the doctor was living in Ambridge with a woman whom he introduced as his wife.

Because they had no children, Mrs. Lizzie M. Helms claims her husband offered such indignities that she was ridiculed in the eyes of their friends. She and other witnesses testified that he continually talked of her childless state before all with whom he came in contact.

Libel for divorce was filed by Rebecka J. Hyer against Peter G. Hyer, who claims that her husband deserted her 25 years ago. She charges that after deserting her she is informed that he introduced a "Dot" Harr as his wife. A libel charging desertion was also filed by Bridget Cassels against Thomas Cassels.

In criminal court Mary Demnick, who has been in jail for some time on a charge of larceny, fainted in the courtroom and fell into the arms of County Detective Robinson. She was soon revived and left the courtroom in company with her husband. Mrs. Demnick was charged with larceny by Detective John Lally and has been in jail waiting trial. She was called yesterday, but the prosecution was not ready for trial and asked until Monday to prepare. The court held the case over, and when the defendant found she would have to go back to jail she fainted. The court then agreed to let the woman go on her own recognizance, being assured she would be in court when wanted.

The case of Frederick J. Lamp, the McKeesport detective, who is charged with felonious assault and battery by F. J. Hoop, a policeman, was held over in criminal court until next Thursday. The case was called for trial, but it was found it could not be finished during the day and was therefore held over.

United States Jurors Dismissed.

In the United States district court Judge Joseph Buffington discharged the panel of jurors, which ends the jury trials for the May term of the court. The term was a short one, as many of the defendants pleaded guilty to the charges against them. It is thought many of these will be sentenced today. In the case of Samuel H. Imel, an old soldier of Mt. Pleasant, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Imel was charged with swearing falsely in his application for a pension.

The case of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal Company against Morrison Foster, trading as the Strip Vein Coal Company, was called for trial, but was held over. Since the litigation started Foster, who was a brother of Stephen C. Foster, died, and when the case was called only the plaintiff company was ready to proceed. Foster was alleged to have transferred some property to the Allegheny National bank, and he was alleged to have done so to show preference toward his creditors. A petition in bankruptcy had been filed against him.

Because his right eye was destroyed by a shot from an air rifle, John Piaseck, by his father, brought suit against Frederick Heidenhof, asking $5,000 damages. Both plaintiff and defendant are boys aged about 14 years.

William G. Finn entered suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company, asking $1,000 damages. He alleges he was a passenger on a second avenue car and asked for a transfer at Brady street, whereupon the conductor struck him in the face and he and an inspector dragged him from the car and placed him under arrest. He avers he was sent in the patrol wagon to the station house, handcuffed to a drunken Hungarian.

Arguments were heard by Judge Young in the appeal of Fred Claus, a plumber, from the decision of Alderman Toole, who fined him $50 for an alleged violation of the ordinance prohibiting working at plumbing without a license. The city of Pittsburgh is named as the prosecutor, but the attorney for Claus alleged that the real prosecutor is James J. McKee of Ingram, and that the action was brought without the knowledge or consent of the city. It was alleged that Claus was refused a license and was working for a licensed plumbing concern.

Executions issued: Philadelphia Roll and Machine Company vs. Union Railway Company and W. F. Baumgarten, $520 22; J. H. Latto vs. M. J. Mahoney, $385.

METROPOLITAN OPERA CO. BRINGS BACK NEARLY $80,000

Its Tour Through West Marks New Era, Thanks Largely to Valuable Services of Gustav Schlotterbeck of Pittsburgh.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 5.—When the Metropolitan Opera Company returned this week, no one was more surprised that the tour had made a profit of between $75,000 and $80,000 than the business managers of the company. It was a thing unheard of in the history of grand opera in America. Maurice Grau was accustomed to come back with a heavy loss marked up on the ledger, the tour always being made to fill out time for which the singers were contracted.

"The people of the west are just as anxious for grand opera as the people of New York city," said Gustav Schlotterbeck of Pittsburgh, who had much to do with the big success in the west, "but they demanded the same quality of productions as are given in the metropolis. When we promised they should have only the best, we were laughed at by the people and the men in the theatrical profession, who could not see where we could make such a trip come out anywhere near even, to say nothing of a profit.

"But we went on our way, making promises and then making good on every promise we made. The result was that Chicago broke all records for a week's receipts for grand opera; then San Francisco followed by breaking Chicago's record by $2,000. In every city we visited we played to a profit, even in Kansas City and Denver, where big losses were always expected. After the people found that we were giving them the same singers and the same magnificent productions that were to be seen in New York they awoke to the fact that we were playing fair, and they filled the house at every performance.

"Heretofore, the grand opera management has paid very little attention to the publicity department, but have been willing to spend fortunes on artists. We began preparing for this tour nearly a year ago, and we never stopped until we had made friends with the newspapers of every city we expected to visit. We paid for advertising space such sums as some thought ruinous, and saw the tour well advertised long before it was ready to start. Events prove it was a big paying investment."

The party that left New York consisted of 268 people and never fewer than 200 were carried into the small remotest section of the country where stops were made.

POLICEMAN IS HELD FOR KILLING LAPPE

Companions of Dead Boy Testify at Inquest Officer Shot Directly at Him.

Policeman Rufus Ullom, who shot and killed W. De Forest Lappe at Second avenue and Wood street on the morning of April 25, was yesterday held by the coroner's jury to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder. Policeman Ullom furnished $6,000 bail for court. It was shown by the testimony of the coroner's physician that the bullet which killed young Lappe entered his back straight from the revolver, and did not strike the ground and glance into his body, as was reported.

After furnishing the required bond Ullom was released from custody by order of Judge Shafer in criminal court. His bondsmen are Officers John Dean, Thomas Paisley and Garret Crussan. Attorney John Marron appeared in court for the relatives of Lappe, while Ullom was represented by Assistant City Attorney Levin.

Lappe was with five companions in Second avenue. Joseph R. Boyd of 426 Morewood avenue testified that he and Lappe had a quarrel, and that Policeman Baker ordered him and his companions to keep quiet. The boys ran and the officer followed them. They went to Third avenue and Wood street, where Boyd and Lappe renewed their differences.

Baker started for them with the purpose of placing them under arrest. Two of the boys escaped, Boyd and Lappe and Frank Galey ran out Wood street to Second avenue, where Policeman Ullom turned the corner and confronted them. Boyd was captured by Baker and Officer Ullom caught Galey. Lappe continued toward First avenue. Both Boyd and Galey testified that Officer Ullom fired two shots at Lappe. They were of the opinion the first shot was aimed toward the pavement, but were positive the second was deliberately aimed at Lappe.

Dr. Schildecker, who made a post-mortem examination of Lappe, testified the wound was clean cut, and that the bullet, when found in the body, was round and had the appearance of having entered the body direct from the revolver. The physician said had the bullet struck anything before striking Lappe it would have been flattened.

WAGE AGREEMENTS FOR MINERS ARE ADJUSTED

Special Scales Made for Harwick and Butts Mines—All District Mines Have Settled.

President Patrick Dolan and Secretary William Dodds returned yesterday from a trip through the northern part of the district. While away they arranged a scale for the Harwick mine and also for the Butts Cannel Coal company, which operates at Boyers.

A new system of mining adopted resulted in a special scale being made for the Harwick mine. For run of mine the machine operators will receive 15.5 cents per ton. The scale price is 10 cents per ton, but the company paid 12 per ton under the old system. Heretofore the coal was "beared in" at the bottom of the lower vein; now it will be cut between the two veins, thus removing the bone coal by the machines. The machine operators are to remove all bone with the machine under penalty of suspension or discharge. As the coal is eight feet thick, the company will have seven feet of hard lump coal. This will make the mine profitable. For cutting entries passages the company will pay 9.5 cents per yard extra. Loaders will get 28.5 cents per ton for run of mine, and 48.18 cents per ton for loading from narrows. The Pittsburgh district scale will be effective with the exception of the above changes.

The Butts Cannel Coal company mine "cannel" coal. This is harder than the average, and far better than any other for heating purposes. It always sells at a higher price than any other bituminous coal. It is only a three to four-foot vein and is all pick mined. The diggers will get $1 per ton for run of mine; $1.65 for entry driving, when dry, and $1.94 for wet entry driving. For break through the men will get 66 cents, and for removing slate 25 cents per yard. For air courses 45 cents will be paid.

All the scales for the Pittsburgh district are now signed, but all will expire next April, when the two-year interstate agreement terminates.

REPUBLICANS FAVOR DELAY OF PRIMARIES

County Committee Will Be Practically Unanimous for Postponement from June Until September.

The Republican county committee will today be practically unanimous in approval of the plan to postpone the county primaries from June 3 to September 16. The meeting will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in common council chamber.

Chairman Ford said yesterday that he had heard of but few dissenters to the plan to change the date of the primaries. Republicans generally believe it wise to give the candidates and the voters more time and the proposition to alter the rules has always been popular. Chairman Ford proposed uniform rules six months ago, pointing out then the necessity for such action.

There will be nothing to do at the committee meeting today, but present the amendment to the rule relative to the primaries. Final action must be postponed until May 20, when the committee will dispose of the matter.

Balfour Attacks Opposition.

LONDON, May 5.—Premier Balfour, speaking before 10,000 people at Albert hall this afternoon, the occasion being the annual meeting of the Primrose league, predicted the country would never return the Liberals to power while the latter upheld the disestablishment of the church and home rule, or made any attack on the union of England and Ireland, in the disguise of the scheme known under the name of devolution.

Fined for Causing Two Deaths.

BUCYRUS, O., May 5.—William Heffelfinger has been fined $200 here for an assault which caused two deaths. He fired a revolver from his front steps in Crestline. The bullet struck Mrs. Margaret Kinley, seated at her window across the street. She was instantly killed. Another woman dropped dead when she heard the news.

For the Children's Sake.

In the last edition of "The Clinic," the well-known magazine published in the interest of health, there appeared a well-written and highly interesting article that is causing widespread comment. The author, whose genius appears in every word uttered, treats at length the vital questions to which all modern men of science have been and are today devoting their time and energies, namely—the origin of disease. Much of the matter is devoted to the subject of painless childbirth. To this physical pain sustained or endured by the mother is ascribed much of our present unhealthy condition, and why not? Is not the health of a man and woman largely, if not entirely, dependent on the mother and the conditions immediately following birth. Would not every mother bring up healthy children rather than weaklings? Here, mother, is your golden opportunity—to you, we extend an invitation—the invitation of asking for a free sample copy of "The Clinic."

If through reading the articles contained therein you can bring up healthy children—keep self and family in perfect physical condition, will the asking for a free copy of "The Clinic" be too expensive an effort? This magazine is published in the interest of Health and Humanity—every page is devoted to health-giving suggestions—it gives a knowledge that every individual ought to possess. Therefore, do not overlook the advantages now offered you—do not forget the address, but write to "The Clinic" Department 1052, Rochester, N. Y., and ask for this most helpful magazine.

Read it—keep it and act upon the suggestion given therein in all circumstances where sickness of any kind puts in its appearance. Your children will be thankful to you in years to come and many a night that otherwise would for you be sleepless, will be enjoyed in blessed rest. Come, mother, come, father, have one of these magazines, it will prove worth much more than the asking. Don't forget the address, "The Clinic," Dept. 1052, Rochester, N. Y.
